Kansas City Mayor To Take Part In Affairs

'Not Satisfied' In Conditions Under Manager McElroy

KANSAS CITY, April 13—(AP)—Mayor Bryce B. Smith took over active affairs of Kansas City today, saying he was not satisfied with present conditions under City Manager H. F. McElroy.

"I have decided to step beyond the limitations of the city charter and take an active part in the administrative affairs of our municipal government," he said.

"Kansas City is clean now, and it is going to stay clean."

The charter places great limitations upon the mayor. Chiefly it makes him presiding officer of the city council.

Power to Hire and Fire

However, the council has the power to hire and fire the city manager and, theoretically, to direct his conduct.

Smith's statement follows:

"Kansas City is clean now and it is going to stay clean.

"Under the present city charter, the powers of the mayor are limited legally to the extent that he virtually is only the presiding officer of the city council.

"During the time I have served as mayor I have abided by the limitations placed upon the office by the charter, and within those narrow limits I have tried sincerely to serve the people of Kansas City to my best ability.

"At the present time, however, I believe that the people of Kansas City expect that their mayor should be more than simply the presiding officer of the council.

"Believing that, I have decided that for the remainder of my term I shall step beyond the limitations placed upon me by the charter and that whenever necessary I shall take an active part in the administrative affairs of our municipal government, with my sole purpose a determination that this city shall be all that its citizens desire, and all that I intend for it to be.

"In this position I believe that I am supported by the city council, and it is my hope that I shall have the support of all our citizens."

Five members of the council of nine which includes the mayor, may take charge and overturn the present management of the city hall and police.

City hall talk today placed three councilmen definitely with the mayor with a fourth possible.

Six of the council were elected with Pendergast support, two by the Shannon, or "rabbit" faction, and one is a Republican.

Showdown Conference

KANSAS CITY, April 13.—(AP)—A showdown conference was scheduled for 3 p. m. this afternoon at the city hall on Mayor Bryce B. Smith's plan to take a more active part in city affairs.

City Manager Henry F. McElroy declined to comment on rumors that he would resign and Mayor Smith said he had received no resignation.

"I am cool as a cucumber," McElroy said, "but I am saying nothing, Not a thing."

Stage Raid On Illicit Alcohol

KANSAS CITY, April 13—(AP)—Federal agents struck again today in the war on Kansas City vice, seizing 300 gallons of illicit alcohol in a raid at an underground room. No arrests were made.

Internal revenue agents to enter the room had to go through the home of Charles Crapsi, one of 13 persons arrested in a coast-to-coast narcotics ring roundup.

The room was beneath a sidewalk on Harrison street near Missouri avenue.

W. G. Malsie, supervisor of enforcement for this internal revenue district, said the agents also seized three barrels of wine found in a vacant storeroom under the Crapisi home.

Malsie said his department had planned the raid several weeks ago but had been asked to wait until the narcotics arrests were made.

Crapisi now is in Jackson county jail in lieu of $25,000 bond imposed at his arraignment on the federal narcotics charge.

Malsie said federal agents had been stationed in the area where the storeroom was found for several months, checking the transfer and transportation of liquor.

Today's raid, he said, broke a "major link in Kansas City's illicit alcohol ring."

Yankee Clipper at Lisbon

LISBON, Portugal, April 13—(AP)—The Yankee clipper, homeward bound on a transatlantic inspection flight, arrived at Lisbon from Southhampton, England, at 3:57 p. m. (9:57 a. m. CST) today.

The big Pan American flying boat covered the approximately 1,000 miles in five hours 45 minutes.

American Mother Of Year

Named "American mother of 1939" by committee of Golden Rule Foundation, 80-year-old Mrs. Elias Compton, above, of Wooster, O., has three sons listed in "Who's Who," and a daughter who is a leader in missionary education. Her children: Prof. Arthur Holly Compton of the University of Chicago, 1927 winner of Nobel prize for physics; President Karl Taylor Compton of Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Wilson Martindale Compton, general manager of National Lumber Manufacturers' Association, and Mrs. Mary Rice, missionary in India.

House Passes A Pay Increase Bill To Judges

Amendment Is Proposed To Unite Welfare Groups

JEFFERSON CITY, April 13—(AP)—The house passed a bill of Rep. H. P. Lauf (D), Jefferson City, raising pay of rural circuit judges $1,300 a year to $6,000 today despite a rising tide of opposition to "salary hikers."

The measure obtained 80 votes, five more than a majority, with 43 against.

The bill applies to 31 circuits and will cost about $40,000 a year. All judges in circuits which contain more than one county will receive the added compensation as jury commissioners.

The salary raise in the original bill was $2,400 but this was cut down when the measure was perfected.

Rep. William B. Weakley (D), Pike county, opposed the hike on the ground it was a "subterfuge" to get around the constitutional pay limitation.

"This is not the time to raise salaries when we haven't got enough for the dependent children or needy persons on relief," added Rep. J. B. Heriford (R), Ozark county.

Most of the "no" votes came from the Republican minority.

Supreme and appellate court judges and commissioners, and county school superintendents also have benefited from pay-hiking bills passed in the house this session.

Would Absorb Some Boards

Rep. Arthur R. Kincaid (D), Clay county, introduced a constitutional amendment today which would create a department of public welfare consolidating and

Accuse Saloon Keeper As The 'Head Man'

Surprise Over Arrest At Warsaw In Narcotics Case

KANSAS CITY, April 13—(AP)—A pudgy, smiling saloon keeper was accused today as the headman of a narcotics ring a federal agent did a $1,000,000-a-month business before raids swept up 13 of its leaders.

Angelo Donnici, 64, who ran a dingy little tavern next to the temporary federal building, was known as the "mayor of Ninth street," Always affable, he was a familiar, bowing figure around the federal building, where he sometimes appeared to ply his other trade of bondsman.

"Greetings, Mr. Assistant District Attorney," he would cry, and —"Greetings, Mr. Deputy Clerk of the Federal Court!"

When an official came into his place for lunch, Donnici himself would trot up to recommend something especially fine on the menu.

He rattled around town in a 1929 model coach and was continually bemoaning the hard breaks life handed him.

Today he was in jail with seven other men arrested here yesterday. The other five prisoners were arrested in New York City and Oklahmoa.

Richard K. Phelps, assistant district attorney, said he had evidence Donnici was "the man behind the scenes in this case—that many people are doing time because of him and that he was responsible for the induction of drugs into this city."

Capital of Narcotics

H. J. Anslinger, U. S. commissioner of narcotics, said Kansas City was the "capital of narcotics distribution in the midwest."

Snow And Freeze Over Wide Area

CHICAGO, April 13—(AP)—Snow and freezing weather gave a midwinter aspect to a large section of the nation today.

The United States weather bureau reported the worst of the cold snap was over but that no real balmy weather was in sight.

Extensive damage to budding fruit and some grain crops was reported in agricultural areas.

Smudge fires burned through the night in the Vincennes, Ind., fruit belt. Orchardist said the apricot, plum and pear crops in Pike county were almost a total loss.

Northwest Arkansas fruit growers feared apples, grapes and berries already in bloom had been injured by the unseasonably low temperatures. Big lettuce and onion crops on Long Island, New York, were similarly threatened.

More than a score of states shivered in freezing temperatures. Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas, with readings near zero, were the coldest spots. Snow fell in several states, notably Ohio, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Vermont and upstate New York.

Brief blizzards swept Pennsylvania. Winsted, Conn., reported a three inch snow fall while there were eight inches in upstate New York. Fresh snows brought the total depth in mountain areas of Vermont to four feet and in northern New Hampshire to 30 inches.

There were slight snow flurries in New York City last night while the temperature skidded almost 20 degrees in 10 hours. Across the continent in western Montana weather conditions were almost identical.

Yesterday was the coldest April 12 in history for some cities. Chicago's 21 was seven degrees below the previous record, established in 1900. The board of health was flooded with complaints from the apartment dwellers who complained of lack of heat.

Bill Signed To Drop Immunity

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has signed the bill wiping out immunity of federal and state employes from income taxation.

The measure, which a secretary said the President signed last night, permits the federal government to tax the salaries of state officials and employes, and state governments to tax the salaries of federal officials and employes.

The law carries into effect a policy which the supreme court approved in a recent decision.

Grand Jury Not Meet Friday Or Saturday

Several residents of the city, and some from small towns in the county, were subpoenaed by the grand jury today for questioning. There was no indication of the matters they were consulted on.

The jury will not be in session Friday or Saturday.

Asserts Trade Pact Impeded

Wallace Places Hindrance On 'Dictator Nations'

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—Asserting that "dictator nations" had blocked success of the administration's trade pact program, Secretary Wallace urged congress today to back government subsidies of wheat and cotton exports.

Wallace testified at a closed session of the senate appropriations sub-committee considering demands for a $400,000,000 increase in funds to bolster the administration farm program.

In a 24-page prepared statement, Wallace praised the administration's crop control and benefit payment program for farmers, and also the reciprocal trade program—during normal times.

"But actions of the dictators have kept that policy from meeting full success," Wallace said. "The reciprocal trade program has not brought back to the farmers of the United States more than a small portion of their lost markets for wheat, and due to world conditions apparently can not do so in the near future."

The secretary said this government must subsidize wheat and cotton exports in order to retain its share of the world market until such time as international agreements can be worked out.

The present farm program, he added, is faced now with a surplus crisis in two fields: (1) exports crops such as wheat and cotton and (2) crops used in this country such as "dairy products, pork products, poultry and eggs, fruits and vegetables."

Wallace said the export subsidy and more recent barter proposals would deal with the first phase while increased government expenditures probably would be needed for the second.

Wallace went over the situation with President Roosevelt yesterday.

More Aggressive Policy

The chief executive was described as having reached the conclusion that the United States must adopt a more agressive foreign trade policy. Two reasons for such a policy were advanced: first, to reduce surpluses and regain declining foreign markets, and second, to meet growing competition of the totalitarian countries.

It was said in authoritative quarters the president had taken the view that if the United States did not adopt measures to hold its "normal share" of world trade, the totalitarian states might benefit economically and thereby be put in a position to strengthen themselves in a military way.

Report 32 Dead In Train Crash

MEXICO CITY, April 13—(AP)—Mexican railroad offices here said they had reports of 32 persons killed and 42 injured in a passenger train collision near Queretaro early today.

The first reports were that one second on the Quadalajara-Laredo train crashed into the rear of a line.

Train No. 2, which left Laredo yesterday, had stopped to repair a defective air-brake line near the station La Llave, 140 miles north of Mexico City, when a train from Guadalajara plowed into the rear of it.

First reports said all the deaths occurred in the Guadalajara train.

The collision took place at 4:10 a. m.

It was the latest of a series of wrecks on the worker-operated National railways, the management of which recently charged there were efforts at Sabotage to discredit the railway and the government.

Dr. Campbell Is Re-elected

To Medical Post At State Meet; Talk On Cancer Problem

Dr. A. J. Campbell, of Sedalia, was re-elected councilor for the Sixth district, which includes Pettis and ten surrounding counties, at the Missouri State Medical Association meeting at Excelsior Springs, which ended last night.

There were over 500 doctors at the 82nd annual meeting of the state association. Dr. Silas Burford, of St. Louis, was made president-elect, and will assume the presidency next year.

Other doctors from Sedalia who attended, included Dr. W. A. Beckemeyer, delegate from the Pettis County Medical Association; Dr. C. D. Osbourne, president of the Pettis County Medical Association, and Dr. D. P. Dyer. Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Beckemeyer, and Mrs. Dyer also attended the convention.

Dr. Fred J. Taussig, vice-chairman of the state cancer commission, addressed the association yesterday afternoon, and called for a plan which would enable the "lower middle class" to obtain treatment for cancer without "too great a financial burden."

State hospital divisions at Fulton and St. Joseph, and the new state cancer hospital being built at Columbia, provide facilities for indigent patients, he said, while "private hospitals can amply supply the needs of the well-to-do and the upper middle class."

Dr. Taussig said that there remains a large group of the lower middle class, who can and should pay for medical services, but who cannot afford all the unusual expenses entailed in the treatment of cancer.

He said some plan should be worked out by the medical profession of Missouri to provide treatment for this group which would not entail too great a financial burden.

Dr. Cyrus E. Burford, of St. Louis, was chosen president-elect of the association. He will take office next year succeeding Dr. James M. McVay, of Kansas City, installed to the presidency yesterday.

Among other officers chosen by the convention were Dr. C. A. W. Zimmerman, Cape Girardeau, alternate delegate to the A. M. A. convention, and Dr. Howard B. Goodrich, Hannibal, and Dr. E. J. Neinstedt, Sikeston, councilors of districts 2 and 10.

Mrs. Stanley J. Howard, Jefferson City, was chosen president-elect of the women's auxiliary after installation of Mrs. Paul F. Cole as president for the coming year. Mrs. J. J. Drace, Cape Girardeau, was chosen to one of the three vice-presidencies, Mrs. J. B. McCubbin, Fulton, was named treasurer, and Mrs. M. D. Overholzer, Columbia, auditor.

Discuss Means For Keeping Of Business Going

'As Usual' Is The Theme In Event Of War In Europe

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—High administration officials met today to discuss means of keeping American business "going as usual" in the event of a European war.

They said they did not, necessarily, expect war or any other serious disturbance, but felt it their duty to be prepared.

Those attending the meeting included Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve board, President George L. Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, Securities Commissioner Jerome Frank, and Herbert Feis, economic adviser of the state department.

It was learned that the group agreed that every effort should be made to keep American security, commodity, exchange and other markets open, regardless of European events.

One official said, "no one wants to slap on a lot of regulations."

"Business as Usual"

"Business as usual" was the theme of the discussions, and no question of legislation was raised.

It was learned that the conferees primarily reviewed the powers they already have to stabilize conditions and help American business withstand the economic shock of a European crisis.

The federal reserve board, for instance, controls margin trading in securities and bank credit, The agriculture department controls commodity markets and the securities commission regulates bond and stock markets.

The discussions covered, it was said, all kinds of markets in which any one has anything to buy or sell.

Presumably, the conferees also discussed means of preventing sudden liquidation of the stimated $8,000,000,000 invested in this country by foreigners, in case foreign governments should sequester these holdings from their citizens in order to get money to buy supplies.

Clinic Friday For Crippled

Between sixty and seventy-five crippled persons are expected to attend the annual Crippled Children's clinic at the Bothwell hospital Friday, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning. It is held under the auspices of the Pettis County Crippled Children's Society.

Dr. W. J. Stewart, Columbia, director of the state crippled children's service, will be the examining physician. Others here interested in the work are Miss Albert Chase, St. Louis, executive director of the Missouri Society for Crippled Children, Miss Nadyne Anderson, field representative for the state service, Miss Ruth Olson, medical social consultant for the service and Paul Kinder, state vocational rehabilitation director.

Child Burns to Death In a Cow Barn

CARTHAGE, Mo., April 13—(AP)—Four-year-old Buddy Richard Erwin burned to death this morning in a fire which destroyed a cow barn at the rear of the family home.

His mother, Mrs. T. L. Erwin, said Buddy had been playing around the kitchen and she feared he had found some matches which he took to the barn with him. Mrs. Erwin was not aware the child was out of the house until the fire was discovered. His badly charred body was found by firemen after they subdued the blaze.

Accord Greece and Rumania Support

British And The French Pledge It To Them

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, April 13—Great Britain and France pledged "all the support in their power" today to Greece and Rumania if their independence were theatened.

The action, announced to the house of commons in emergency session by Prime Minister Chamberlain, widened the anti-aggression front started by the two powers with a similar pledge to Poland after Germany absorbed Memel. Chamberlain made it clear the extension was the sequel to Italy's Good Friday seizure of Albania.

Premier Daladier of France made a similar statement in Paris and announced his nation had reinforced its defenses "to guarantee the frontiers of France and its empire against any surprise."

The prime minister made it plain that Turkey was included indirectly in the new guarantees, stating that the assurances to Greece and Rumania were being communicated "especially to Turkey, whose close relations with the Greek government are well known."

Chamberlain declared anti-aggression consultations with Soviet Russia were continuing when members of the house shouted:

"What about Russia?"

Italian Assurances

The prime minister, who spoke for 34 minutes, disclosed new Italian assurances that Italian troops, planes and pilots would leave Spain immediately after the Madrid victory parade, now set tentatively for May 2.

He gave Premier Mussolini one more chance for friendship with Britain by declaring he looked to the Italian government for "practical evidence" that it shared his desire for good relations.

The prime minister refused to

Measure For The Use of Voting Machines

JEFFERSON CITY, April 14.—(AP)—A constitutional amendment of Rep. Maurice Schechter (D), St. Louis which would permit use of voting machines in place of ballots in elections was passed today by the house, 105 to 13. It would be submitted to the people in November, 1940.

Aid Of France Is Promised In Event Of Need

Daladier Makes Declaration Of French Position

By The Associated Press.

PARIS, April 13—Premier Daladier announced today France was ready militarily for emergencies and, with Britain, had promised her aid in case of need to Greece and Rumania as well as Poland.

His declaration, made in a bluntly-worded statement, came only a few minutes after British Prime Minister Chamberlain announced similar commitments to Greece and Rumania in London.

It was accepted here as designed to serve two major purposes:

1. To tell Germany and Italy that any act of aggression would bring a serious risk of war.

2. To bolster the determination of those countries which feel themselves menaced and are inclined to resist.

Statement In Person

The statement read to the press on behalf of the premier declared that "without verbal manifestations and without vain provocations" the nation has reinforced its defenses "to guarantee the frontiers of France and its empire against any surprise."

The premier added that France would go to the aid of Rumania if that Balkan kingdom considered her vital interests in jeopardy.

He declared that the French government attached "the greatest importance" to the prevention of any modification by force or "the menace of force" of the status quo in the Mediterranean sea or the Balkan peninsula.

He added that the French government was continuing the necessary diplomatic action for the maintenance of peace and the strengthening of the solidarity which "should unite all countries resolved to preserve their liberty" in the face of a common peril.

Daladier said the protection of "all French interests direct or indirect and of France's alliances' remained the government's "duty and desire."

Meanwhile France strengthened her land, sea and air forces and coordinated them with Britain's to bolster their "halt Hitler and Mussolini" campaign.

"Our objective," Daladier said, "is to organize the necessary collaboration among those nations which have no idea of menacing the vital interests of any people, which do not refuse to enter into the loyal examination of present problems and which are determined to oppose any attempt at domination."

Daladier read a communication prepared in agreement with London:

"Taking into consideration the special uneasiness that events of the last few weeks have brought on, the French government has given to Rumania and Greece particular assurance that in case any action should be attempted which would clearly menace the independence of Rumania or Greece and which the Rumanian or Greek governments felt it to be to their vital interests to resist with their national forces, the French government will consider itself bound to lend immediately all assistance in its power."

Stark Calls On President

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri, after a conference with President Roosevelt today, smilingly turned aside efforts of reporters to pin him down on details of his conversation with the chief executive.

The governor told newsmen as he left the White House that he and the President had not discussed T. J. Pendergast, Kansas City political boss and foe of the governor, indicted last week on federal income tax evasion charges.

"You didn't discuss him at all?" insisted a reporter.

"You'll have to ask the President about that," was the governor's smiling answer.

Stark said he expected to see Attorney General Frank Murphy and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau during his Washington visit, but had no business with them.

Stark is here to attend the annual gridiron dinner Saturday.

Accompanied by Mrs. Stark, Adjutant General Louis M. Means, James M. Douglas, state supreme court justice, and J. D. James, chairman of the state public service commission, the governor expected to remain in the capital for several days.

He said he would talk with officials about interstate trade barrier questions, the public works program in Missouri, and national guard officials.

Tomorrow the governor will attend a luncheon to be given at the capitol by Representative Cannon (D-Mo) for members of congress from Missouri. He will dine tomorrow night with General and Mrs. Malin Craig at Fort Myer, Va.

Stark will attend a luncheon Saturday in honor of Mayor Bernard Dickman of St. Louis. Harry W. Balri, former assistant attorney general, and Senator Clark (D-Mo) also will entertain the governor during his visit.

Sedalia's Boys Are Taught Not To Be Afraid Of Police

"Jigger, the cops!" — instinctive shout of most boys at the sight of a police officer—is seldom heard here any more, since the formation, a little over one year ago, of the Sedalia Junior Police Association.

The Junior Police started in February, 1938, when local officers decided it would be a good thing to let the boys here know more about them, to teach them that a policeman is not their natural enemy, but is really a person who is anxious to help them.

Approximately 475 boys, ranging in age from 8 to 15, have joined the Junior Police since its beginning. Classes are held every Saturday morning at 9:30 in the city council room, with the white children attending one week and the negro children the next.

Chief of Police John J. O'Brien with the often rebellious younger boys if they explained to them just why it is they were forbidden to do certain things.

Get To Know Police

"We are trying to explain WHY not to do a thing, not just telling the boys not to do it," Fischer said. "The idea is to let them know something about us," he added. "A lot of people make the mistake of teaching their children to be afraid of policemen. They'll tell them that if they're not good the police will be called."

When the first class assembled the boys were scared to death. They were much too close to the officers to feel at all comfortable. But after the first few and Officers Herman Fischer and Lawrence Englund taught the first Things Go On Here, Too!

Today, let's jerk our eyes away from Europe for a change. Let's think for a moment of things that are going on right here in the United States. There are such things.

An editor in Manitowoc, Wis., recently wrote: ". . . the prospect of France losing a colony or two and Britain facing the loss of her prestige in the tropics seems less significant and important since the meeting of the Manitowoc County Bee Keepers Association in Reedsville Friday . . ."

Maybe he's right. We are doing ourselves no good, trying to work with one eye fixed on Europe.

Things go on here, too! Important and interesting things, aimed at decency and happiness and a better life. Let's skip through a few of them.

Spring's upon us, and that means that 130,000,000 men, women, and children are going to feel a little better . . . A New York metallurgist announces a new colored stainless steel, lighter and stronger than any metal now in use . . . it may bring the cost of a $10,000 house down to $3800 on a steel-fabrication basis . . . Two giant fairs call from either end of the country, with exhibits of beauty and enlightenment, pointing toward a better life in the future . . . we can go to them, unhampered by customs barriers and without asking anybody's permission . . . Henry Ford thinks great things are going to happen this year, industrially . . . Twenty-five years of work for improved Negro health has borne fruit, researchers announce . . . Long a blot on the nation's health record, the death rate for Negroes has decreased from 24.2 per 1000 in 1910 to 16.5 . . . General health of the nation was never better, and for the first time real progress is being made against the social diseases.

The making of yarn from milk is about ready for commercial use, and should prove a boon to many . . . The girls in the Easter Parade were prettier than ever . . . The safest safety-glass ever made is ready to go into American cars . . . The average person in the United States will travel 2500 miles this year . . . most of it in getting better acquainted with his fellow-Americans in other towns and states, or in our neighboring countries.

And the baseball season is about to open.

If we don't watch ourselves, we get so miserable watching the miseries of Europe that we forget the encouraging things that are going on in our own country.

The leather-splitting machine was invented by Samuel Parker, of Newburyport, Mass., in 1809.

Ninety per cent of our foot troubles and ailments are due to improperly fitting footwear.

The nasturtium is named from the Latin words nasus, meaning nose, and torquere, meaning to twist, due to the plant's pungent odor.

Acton, a section of London which once contained more than 300 laundries, now has 270 factories engaged in other businesses. Acton once was called the "laundry of London."

The earth's eastern and western hemispheres are not defined definitely. Some maps use the meridians 15 degrees W. and 165 degrees E. as the dividing lines, while others use the meridians 20 degrees W. and 160 degrees E.

Mutual Help

No kind of help is as good as mutual help. No deal is as good as one from which both parties profit.

Such an opportunity lies before the United States.

For many years, the Pan-American Highway has been emerging from a dream into a slowly-materializing reality. Those of the countries to the south that could afford it have been slogging away at the job, and Mexico has made magnificient progress.

Any help, technical or financial, that could be extended to countries farther south in driving the road through to the Panama Canal would be typical of the kind of help that helps both parties. The countries aided would benefit by public works expenditures and future tourist trade and general opening up of their territories. The United States would benefit in good will, in sales of machinery, and in getting access to the canal by land from the north.

Such a proposal is well worth study. As good roads help any country or neighborhood which gets them, so the completion of the Pan-American Highway would benefit every country it touches, including our own.

Public Ownership

People have violent opinions about things. They are "for" or "against" something, and yet while they talk, it has a habit of going ahead and getting accomplished anyway.

Public ownership is such a controversial subject, and we're not going into its principles here.

But the fact is, it is advancing. Four-fifths of all cities of more than 5000 population own some kind of public utility, the International City Managers' Association has found. All cities of more than 200,000 population own one or more public utilities.

Ownership of waterworks systems was reported by 1249 cities out of 1797 surveyed. More than 800 own sewage disposal plants; 634 own their own cemeteries; 405 their own airports. Electric light plants are owned by 259, and 50 own gas works.

Depression public works no doubt account for much of this change, for when government puts up money for a public improvement, it is usually up to government to run it. Slowly, steadily, and almost in disregard of agitation for or against, this trend continues.

Fish are color-blind. They distinguish colors as various shades of gray.

A new era in machine-made lace fabrics was marked by the invention of the Jacquard loom in 1801.

There now are 10,000 fewer butlers in England than there were a half dozen years ago.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — A decided change has come over Vice President Garner recently.

He still fraternizes in the cloakrooms and invites cronies to his office to "strike a blow for liberty"—which means three fingers neat. But no longer is he garrulous about the New Deal and New Dealers.

Particularly has he become silent about what he said to Roosevelt or to certain Cabinet members at White House sessions. There was a time when the little Texan talked freely about these tilts, but no more. Now he keeps a close check on his tongue regarding inside affairs.

Cause of the remarkable transformation is presidentitis. Garner now is taking himself serious as a 1940 possibility. The development is recent, but definite.

As late as last December, when he returned to Washington, Jack told intimates that the last thing in his mind was remaining in public life after his term expired. He pointed out that in 1941 he would be 72 years old, would have spent 40 years in office, which was enough for "one lifetime." His only desire, he declared, was to retire to his Uvalde ranch and spend his remaining days in peace.

His only ambition, Garner explained, was to have a voice in choosing the next Democratic ticket. That, he said, was why he permitted his name to be used as a candidate. We wanted to sew up as many delegates as possible so he would be able to block a New Dealer as the nominee in 1940.

But today, Garner has shelved all retirement thoughts and is a redhot aspirant for the nomination.

The Vice President is personally friendly to Jim Farley, Senator Bennett Clark and Paul McNutt, but doesn't think they can make the grade; Farley because he is a Catholic, Clark because he opposed national defense, and McNutt because Farley will fight him to the last ditch.

Garner sees Secretary Hull as his only serious contender. Privately the two men are not over cordial. In the House of Representatives they didn't get along together, and the years since have brought them no closer.

But Garner is not against Hull as vehemently as he opposes Hopkins or the other New Dealers. Next to himself, Hull is Garner's first choice.

Note—Farley partisans poohpooh the claims of Garner backers that he already has 200 delegates, declare he will be lucky if he comes to the convention with 100. They point out that he won't get a delegate above the Mason-Dixon line, has no chance in the Far West, and outside of Texas has little prospect of capturing any of the Southern States, most of which will be grabbed off by favorite sons.

Supreme Court Smoking

Justice William O. Douglas is a chain cigarette smoker, and the first thing he learned about the Supreme Court was its unwritten law against smoking.

The taboo operates both when the Justices are on the bench and in their private sessions. Even when they lunch together they do not smoke. This dates back many years and is in defense to Justice McReynolds, who has a physical abhorrence to tobacco.

Once, shortly after Justice Roberts joined the Court, he lit up his pipe at a private session. Nothing was said, but the icy glare of disapproval caused him to put the pipe quickly in his pocket.

Chief Justice Hughes smoked moderately in private life but gave it up when appointed to the Court. Justice Reed appreciates an occasional cigar or cigarette but refrains in the Supreme Court building. Like Douglas, Justice Black is a heavy smoker, but abides by the ban while with his colleagues.

Nazis in U. S. Schools

The Dies un-Americanism committee has a secret report on an incident at Tampa University, Florida, which may lead to a nationwide probe of Nazi penetration in American schools.

John A. Sherman, president of Tampa University, was visited by Baron Edgar Freiherr Spiegel von und zu Peckelsheim, German Consul General at New Orleans, and a "Mr. Berger" of Tampa. The Baron explained that his government wished to endow a chair for the teaching of German.

All President Sherman had to do in return was to discharge the professor then teaching German and replace him with one selected by the Baron; also to use textbooks to be supplied by the Hitler government.

President Sherman was nonplussed. But when he found his voice he gave the Nazi visitor a vitriolic tongue-lashing. The Baron became livid, finally interrupted:

"Sir, I would have you understand that I am a Baron in my country and I am not accustomed to being talked to in this manner."

"And I'll have you know," shot back Sherman, "that I am a red-blooded American, if that means anything to you, and Tampa University will have nothing to do with your outrageous proposition."

"Well, maybe your school won't," retorted the Baron, "but there are plenty of others that have." Then, clisking his heels smartly, he bowed himself out with this cryptic remark: "In fact, Mr. President, you would be amazed if you knew how many American schools we are helping in this way."

Help The Fatherland

Justice Department agents have obtained copies of a secret memorandum, recently sent out by the "Union of Germans Abroad" to German-American students of known Nazi sentiments, that reads as follows:

"Look for opportunities in history and social science classes to give reports in which you can show that harm is done to America by anti-German feeling . . . Take part in all clubs and organizations, student publications and assemblies. Take every opportunity to serve the Fatherland well . . . If opportunity does not present itself, create a situation and get into it at the most strategic point."

Note—The University of California at Los Angeles recently dismissed a faculty member in its German Department for covert Nazi activity.

Beer Trailer Falls On Track

There was much excitement Wednesday night when the trailer of a Hamm's beer truck, loaded with about 400 empty beer cases, came loose and fell on its side across the Missouri Pacific railroad tracks at Ohio avenue.

Onlookers thought, at first, that it had been hit by a train.

Ralph Reid, 106 East Sixth street, who was driving the truck, said that he had finished loading it with empties in back of the Hamm's warehouse, and was pulling from the tracks onto Ohio avenue when the trailer began jerking. He looked back in time to see it topple over.

The Missouri Pacific main line was not blocked and trains were able to pass.

The cases in the trailer had to be unloaded before it could be set up on its wheels by a wrecker. There were only a few bottles broken and it was believed little damage was done to the trailer.

S. S. Van Dine Dies Wednesday

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP)—S. S. Van Dine, the man who set the eminently clever Philo Vance sleuthing through the pages of 11 first rate murder mysteries, is dead.

He was Willard Huntington Wright, 51, and by that name he was known as scholar, critic, editor and aesthetician until a nervous breakdown turned his thoughts away from Nietzsche, modern painting and anthropology to the less ponderous but more engaging subject of who killed whom and why.

Apparently in good health, Wright collapsed Tuesday night in his home and died of heart disease.

James Nixon Arrested After Short Freedom

James Nixon, of Arkansas, who was released recently from the county jail, was arrested again Tuesday night by Officer William Couhig and is being held pending investigation.

Nixon, who served 60 days for vagrancy, was told to leave town when released, but did not. Complaints from persons on West Sixteenth street brought about his re-arrest.

Yesterday: Emily watches Alan on his delivery case. Then as she watches him leave, she faints. She hears Farrel calling her, saying that she has just saved a life!

CHAPTER XXIV

WHEN Emily came to, she was lying on a couch on the sun porch. Farrell had a bottle of evil smelling something under her nose. She pushed it away, sat up.

"There, that's better," Farrell said. "You went out on us. Take it easy for a bit, you'll be all right."

"I'm all right. Silly of me to faint. I never did before. Where's Alan?"

"He's with Mrs. Bower. He'll be here in a minute. . . . I suppose you realize what you've done, Emily?" Farrell asked, seriously.

"Why, no. Did I do something wrong?"

"I'll say you did not. You've just saved that baby's life."

"I? I saved that baby's life?" Emily groped for some explanation.

"You certainly did. If you hadn't rushed Mrs. Bower to the hospital when you did, Alan would have had to take care of her at home—there wasn't time to get her here, after we got the call. And then, we wouldn't have had oxygen handy. Yes, Emily, you've saved your first baby. I'm proud of you."

"Oh, Dr. Farrell—here I go, crying all over again."

They looked up to see Billy Bower enter the door, strutting, not pacing this time. A strange metamorphosis usually evidenced by young fathers.

"It's a girl, it's a girl," he shouted delightedly at Emily. "I'm awfully glad, too," he added, his face serious. "She'll never have to go through what I've just gone through in the past hour." Farrell's hearty laugh followed the youth down the corridor.

"ALAN said you were leaving for St. Louis." There was a question in Farrell's tone.

"That's what he thought, Doctor. He rushed away. He wouldn't let me explain. I've been trying to tell him, ever since the night the dam broke, that I want to stay here, in Sumner, with him. But he wouldn't listen to me.

"He thought I loved Eric—but I don't. I love Alan, only Alan. I want to stay here—to be 'Mrs. Doc' if he'll let me."

Farrell smiled. "Well, you've a fair start, Emily!"

"You'll have to help me, teach me," Emily went on. "You were so right when you told me what my duty was here—I couldn't see it then, but I do now. Please make Alan understand."

"I think he will," Farrell said. "What if he hates me?" The thought terrified her. "I've done enough to make him hate me. What if he doesn't want me any more?"

"I wouldn't spend much time worrying about that," Farrell answered. "You've plenty of other things to keep you busy."

"Other things? What, Dr. Farrell?"

"Well, you have to start taking lessons on what every doctor's wife should know. And you won't learn all that in a day, or two. You have to learn his patients, each one individually, so you'll know when John Jones says 'Send Doc in a hurry,' whether he means it or not. Some people always want the doctor right away, and no delay. Others say 'rush' only when it's actually necessary. You have to know which is which. Oh, there are a thousand things to learn. And then there's the clinic."

"The clinic? What clinic?" Emily asked.

"That's been a dream of Alan's and of mine for years now. A free maternity clinic, where women of the poorer class can get care and treatment. Where we can keep a better watch on both mothers and children. Alan was talking about it this morning."

"He's never mentioned it to me."

"He probably didn't think you'd be interested. You've been a factor, in a way, of preventing its establishment. Alan knew that if we did start it, it would mean his being away from home even more of the time. It would have to be an after-hours affair, you know, with a lot of work at night."

"Is there anything I can do to help?"

"If you really want to, Emily—and I believe you do, now—you can be most important. Alan and I will have to start it on a shoestring, and there'll be plenty of work for you, making appointments, keeping records, investigating cases. We had planned to hire a professional investigator, but you would be better. People will tell a doctor's wife more than they will an ordinary case investigator.

"It will be a great thing, for mothers, for children, and for Sumner, Emily. And I hope you'll have a big share in its success.

"I didn't think there was much cause to worry about your leaving, once you saw the light," he continued. "I felt it would take some shock, to bring you to your senses. The dam breaking supplied that. And today you've learned more. You've courage and brains, Emily. You've just been a long time learning to use them. You're not a little girl any longer."

He spoke frankly, and to the point. Emily realized, had he said the same things a week ago, she would have been furious. Now, however, she warmed to his plans, welcomed his advice. Things might have been easier had she listened to Farrell before. But he had never talked to her like this — only once before, when he laid down the rules for a doctor's wife.

Farrell was on her side, definitely, and his counsel was important to Alan. Even if Alan were slow to forgive her, for her heartbreaking errors of the past few weeks, if Farrell urged that he forget the whole thing, he would make a greater effort.

Just how was Alan going to take her coming back—although she really had never left, Emily wondered. He had been so cold, so distant ever since that night the dam broke—except for the instant when she kissed him goodby at the dock. All of his love for her was in that kiss, mute and undenied. And Emily had given all of her heart then too. It was like the kiss on the altar, after their marriage.

"I'll see you downstairs," Farrell was saying. "I'll send Alan right up, soon as he can get away. You rest there for a while."

It might have been only a minute or two—it might have been 10—when she heard the door open again; then Alan's anxious voice—"Emily, are you all right?"

She reached out her arms to him. He was across the room, at her side in an instant. Their lips met, clung together, and in that kiss all the fear, and worry and unhappiness that Emily had ever known left her, never to be remembered. Alan loved her, just as he always had, just as he always would.

"Darling, my darling," was all Emily could say.

At last he knelt on the floor beside the couch, holding her hands, punctuating his sentences with kisses.

"I suppose Farrell told you that the Bower baby is alive because you rushed the mother to the hospital. Wouldn't have had a chance. Angela and Billy know, too. They're so grateful to you. Billy has three women in his life now, his wife, his daughter and you."

Emily laughed. "If you had seen him pacing the floor up here, you would have known how glad he was it was not a boy. Billy's a fine young man, Alan. I want to do more for them, move them out of that hovel, get him a better job. You'll try, won't you?"

"Of course. But Emily, I thought this was just an emergency. You talk as if you intended to stay here." His smile faded, the line of his lips hardened. "What about going to St. Louis? What about Eric?"

Junior Police Now Understand Senior Police

Above are some of the members of the two Junior Police Association classes which meet on Saturdays in the city council room. Officer Herman Fisher, who has charge of these classes, is at the left in both pictures. Organized for over a year now, the Sedalia Junior Police Association was formed to teach children that a policeman is not to be feared, and to explain to them the workings of the local department. There are about 100 boys who attend classes regularly, and about 375 others who come occasionally. The department hopes to make better citizens out of these future civic leaders by the instructions they are giving them now.

Rally Gives An Advance To Wheat

CHICAGO, April 13.—(AP)—Slightly higher wheat prices today reflected continued mill buying, additional export business and fractional advances at Liverpool.

The government disclosed that its 300,000,000 bushel wheat and flour export goal for the season ending July 1 has been surpassed but that the export subsidy program is to be continued. The figures disclosed that 10,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour were sold for export in the two weeks period ending April 1 and that the total for the crop year to that date was 101,300,000 bushels.

A rally in the last few minutes of trading gave wheat a ¼ to ½ cent higher close compared with yesterday. May 69⅛c to 69¼c, July 68⅜c to 68½c. Corn was unchanged to ¼ cent lower, May 47¾c to 47⅞c, July 49⅝c to 49¼c; oats unchanged to ¼ cent higher.

Sedalia Boys On Student Council

H. R. Stockton, R. E. Wadleigh and J. W. Rayl, all of Sedalia, have been elected members of the student council from the Independents, an organization for all non-fraternity men at the Missouri School of Mines, at Rolla. The student council is the governing body for student activities and problems, and acts in connection with the faculty. It is composed of representatives from the fraternities and the independent students.

Stockton is the son of F. E. Stockton, and is a sophomore in electrical engineering at the school of Mines. Wadleigh is a freshman in mechanical engineering and is the son of J. A. Wadleigh. Rayl is the son of Mrs. Lettia Rayl, and is a freshman in geology.

• Today's Patterns

In This Chic House Frock

By CAROL DAY

You know how it is. You can work faster and more happily when you know you look slim and attractive in a really becoming home frock. And you can work a lot easier when wearing Pattern 8417, because it has deep armholes, short sleeves and a flaring skirt, to ensure plenty of freedom for energetic action. The princess cut provides complete ease at the waistline, the sash belt, tied in the back, enables you to adjust it exactly as you please, for slimness and comfort.

Make this pretty dress in calico, percale or gingham, in the most becoming prints you can find. It will look so fresh and spring-like, with all that ricrac. This is a diagram design that even the inexperienced can easily make.

Pattern No. 8417 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 4⅞ yards of 35-inch material, with 6 yards of ricrac braid.

The new SPRING AND SUMMER PATTERN BOOK, 32 pages of attractive designs for every size and every occasion, is now ready. Photographs show dresses made from these patterns being worn; a feature you will enjoy. Let the charming designs in this new book help you in your sewing. One pattern and the new Spring and Summer Pattern Book—25 cents. Pattern or book alone—

The production co-stars Claire Trevor and John Wayne, with prominent roles played by Andy Devine, Louise Platt, George Bancroft, Donald Meek, Tim Holt, Thomas Mitchell and John Caradine.

Balloon Blast Wrecks Hangar

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany April 13—(AP)—A weather observation balloon filled with hydrogen exploded today at the Zeppelin works, destroying a small wooden hangar which housed it. No one was injured.

Its hangar, or "balloon room" of the aerological observatory caught fire but city firemen prevented spread of flames.

Zeppelin hangars were some distance away and were not endangered. Officials said property damage was slight.

Widow Of Frank James Not Reveal Outlaws' Story

By Harold Streeter.

KEARNEY, Mo., April 13—(AP)—A gentle little blind woman is living out her years, now 86, on a 117-year-old log cabin farm near Kearney — with the true, blood pulsing story of Frank and Jesse James locked tightly in her heart.

Fortunes have been offered her for the story. Unhesitatingly, she has turned them down. She vows the story will go with her to the grave.

The woman is Mrs. Annie Ralston James.

The story which she alone could tell is of her breath-taking romance and married life with Frank James, one of the two most talked about outlaws who ever drew a gun from the hip or galloped at breakneck speed on horseback across the dutsy prairie. The other was his brother, Jesse James.

So quietly has this courageous little woman remained in self-imposed seclusion that many persons did not even know she was alive until the news leaked out recently that she had recovered from an illness of bronchial pneumonia.

What a story she could tell . . . her big, colonial plantation home near Independence, Mo. . . . crash of a war shell through her bedroom. . . . Appearance at the plantation of Quantrill's raiders, and among their number the James boys. . . . War's end and the very name of James spreading terror in a period of outlawry. . . 1875. Elopement of pretty, vivacious Annie Ralston with Frank James. An enraged slave-owning father, stunned by his daughter's escapade . . . . Flight with Frank . . . Days in a covered wagon. . . Birth of their boy . . . Life fraught with the fear of capture. . . . . In Kentucky. . . . . In Baltimore. . . . . In New York. . . . Jesse assassinated. Frank in surrender . . Long anxicus weeks of murder trials with the state demanding his life. . . Ultimate acquittal. . . Frank as a stage actor. . . As a St. Louis doorman. . . and, at long last, retirement to the old farm. . . The hectic days behind. . . The quiet life of simple farm folk . . . . Death of Frank James. . . Ahead for her only a long, long road. . . . . and her memories!

These only are lightly brushed touches to the story. Only she could fill in the full, exciting picture.

But she took her cue from Frank James.

Told At Trials

"The only direct reference I ever heard him make to the stories about Jesse and himself," avers Frank's son, Robert, now 61, who lives on the old farm with his mother, "was when he said: 'I told them all about that at the trials and they must have believed me for they acquitted me, and that was all the telling I care to make'."

"My mother," Robert relates, "never has said anything about them (the James boys) except to ridicule some of the wild stories she has read at times, such as about Jesse once being a singing teacher when he couldn't sing a note."

The farm where she lives today is teeming with James history. There the minister-father of the James boys, the Rev. Robert James, brought his bride in 1845.

On that farm Jesse James was born.

Through a window of that farm in January, 1875, detectives seeking the James brothers tossed the bomb which killed an eight year old half brother, Archie, and tore an arm off the mother of the outlaws.

Curious To Farm

For twenty years after Jesse James was slain, his grave was there. Then the present burial site at Kearney was selected.

On that farm in 1935, Frank James died of a heart attack in the arms of his faithful wife who sobbed:

"No better husband ever lived."

To that farm now come the curious.

They come to see the big walnut bed in which Bob Ford and Jesse James slept together for three nights before going to St. Joseph, Mo., where Bob shot Jesse as the outlaw leader stood, unarmed, his back an open target.

They come to see the framed preacher's license of the James brothers' father.

They come to gape at the circled target drawn on tablet paper which was perforated by James' bullets during target practice.

They come to see the framed memorial of Jesse James with the white dove bearing the streamer "gone but not forgotten" and the printed notation, "murdered by a traitor and coward whose name is not worthy to appear here."

They come to chip souvenir pieces of wood off the old log cabin part of the farm, just as the stone has been completely chipped away over Jesse's grave at Kearney.

But all who come never see Mrs. Frank James. If she is walking in the yard when visitors approach, she disappears inside the house and shuts herself up in her room.

Reads Exploits of G-Men

Until her eyes failed, reading was her greatest comfort. Then her son read to her. Until recent years she refused to have any stories of crime brought to her attention. Then the work of the federal agents fascinated her.

She asked that her son and his wife "read to her every word of the career of Dillinger and the kidnapers, Bailey, Karpis, Campbell, Mahan, Robinson and the rest of them," Robert James said.

The serenity of her kind face, as she rocks in her chair, at peace with her memories, gives pause to the thought that here sits a woman whose life was crowned with daring.

She dared defy the wishes of her parents to elope with Frank James in July, 1875, only six months after the detectives tossed the bomb into the James farmhouse and at a time when a price of $1,000 was on Frank's head.

HEALTH SO POORLY FRIENDS THOUGHT HE COULDN'T LIVE LONG

Could Not Regain Health Or Strength Since Attack Of Malarial Fever; Gave Up Farm Work . . . Completely Disabled Until KruGon Wrought The Seeming Impossible.

"Before KruGon did such marvelous things for me I had been told that I had but a short time to live, my health was so poorly," said Mr. L. E. Killion, a well known, highly respected local gentleman who resides at 1800 S. Warren St., Sedalia in a recent statement reaching the McFarland and Robinson Drug Store, this city:

"About four years ago I had an attack of malarial fever," continued M. Killion. "This was the beginning of a general run-down health condition which grew worse daily. I was so poorly I had to give up my farm work and move to town. For two years I was unable to do any work at all . . . completely disabled. I was dreadfully weak and nervous. My feet would swell during the day until I could not bear to have my shoes laced. The swelling would go down some at night but was a continual source of annoyance. It was when I moved into Sedalia that my friends and neighbors said I had but a short time to live. My wife read in the paper about KruGon and wanted me to try it. I did not have any faith in it, thinking it 'just another one of those medicines' but bought a box and began taking it to please her."

"The first few capsules seemed to make a change in my health so I really began taking KruGon in earnest then," he continued. "How glad I am that my wife insisted that I give KruGon a trial. I can now eat any foods that I desire and do not suffer any ill effects either. I have gained in weight from 142 pounds to 160 and feel good all the time. The pain and swelling have gone from my feet and legs and I have renewed strength and energy. My recovery was so remarkable that I have surprised many people who thought I was near death. I am able to do a good hard day's work again and feel as 'fit as a fiddle' at the end of the day. It should not be surprising that I am so enthusiastic about the KruGon after all it has done for me. I will never cease praising its wonderful ability in reaching my stubborn case and removing all doubt and skepticism from my mind. All praise to the KruGon!"

KruGon is sold by the McFarland and Robinson Drug Store, this city and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25 cents. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

Accord Greece And Rumania Support

denounce the Anglo-Italian accord of 1938 because of Italy's conquest of Albania.

After being loudly cheered, Chamberlain began "I was satisfied that it was in the interests of the country that the house should meet this afternoon in view of events in the Mediterranean."

In the resume of recent European events, Chamberlain said they had created "widespread uneasiness especially in the eastern Mediterranean."

Discussing Italy's occupation of Albania last week he said "when we come to examine the background of the events, we are confronted with a divergence of testimony."

Chamberlain, recalling Italian contentions, said Rome claimed that "King Zog became hostile and they (Italy) must protect their interests."

The Duke of Kent was among those listening to the prime minister. He sat in the distinguished visitors' gallery next to the Belgian ambassador, Cartier de Marchienne.

The Soviet ambassador Ivan Maisky was two seats away.

Shocked at Albania Grab

Chamberlain said: "Public opinion throughout the world once again has been profoundly shocked by this fresh exhibition of the use of force."

He added: "The Albania minister reported to Lord Halifax (the British foreign secretary) soon after the Italian invasion that the Albanians had rejected an ultimatum to them by Italy. The Albanian minister appealed to the British government to do their utmost in the aid of a small nation which was desparately trying to defend its own country."

Chamberlain added: "Rightly or wrongly the stories of the oppression of Italians et cetera are regarded with doubt and suspicion."

Chamberlain said, amid cheers, that "whatever their faith, whetherer Christian of Moslem, it must be apparent that powerful nation has imposed its will on a small, relatively defenseless country and has done so by an imposing show of armed force."

The prime minister continued: "we must ask ourselves whether the proceedings in Albania were in conformity with the Anglo-Italian agreement of last April."

He then quoted a passage of the agreement relating to "peace and security" in the Mediterranean.

Italy's action, Chamberlain said: "must inevitably be the cause of further uneasiness and increased international tension.

"Unmistakable signs of uneasiness have been manifested, not only in the particular area, but in other countries adjacent to the Mediterranean."

Concern in Adriatic

Chamberlain said: "The Adriatic is certainly a part of the Mediterranean area and the Italian government could not, therefore, claim that the British government was not concerned."

He disclosed that the British ambassador to Rome, the Earl of Perth, had reminded the Italian government that "the situation might raise in acute form the whole question of the status quo in the Mediterranean."

Chamberlain said: "The British government will lend to Greece or Rumania, if their independence is threatened, all the support in their power."

Chamberlain refused to denounce the Anglo-Italian agreement, asserting it "has been justified and should not at this moment be ended."

Chamberlain continued: "I, therfore, take this opportunity of saying that the government attach the greatest importance to the avoidance of disturbance by force, or fears of force, of the status quo in the Mediterranean and the Balkan peninsula."

He said France concurred in the British pledge of support against aggression to Greece and Rumania.

Viscount Halifax, the foreign secretary, opening a foreign affairs debate in the house of lords, said: "no one act in the business could have effectively shocked religious sentiment everywhere than the fact that it should have been initiated on the day which to most Christians was the most sacred of the year (Good Friday)."

Chamberlain said in commons: 'the government have taken due note of the assurances given for the withdrawal of Italian troops in Spain after the victory march in Madrid."

Regarding Turkey the prime minister said:

"We are communicating this declaration (the assurances to Greece and Rumania) to the governments directly concerned and to others, especially to Turkey whose close relations with the Greek government are well known."

Chamberlain concluded amid cheers:

"In that resolution, and in the steps which we have taken and shall yet take to put that into effect, I am confident we shall have the approval of this house, his country, and the whole empire."

Immediately after Chamberlain sat down, the Laborite opposition attacked his policy.

Clement Atlee, leader of the Laborites, said: "I see no clear sign that the government has really adopted a new policy. I welcome the fact that we have undertaken responsibilities toward Poland, Greece and Rumania, but I am sorry that the prime minister has not been able to give a message from the Soviet Union."

In the house of lords Foreign Secretary Halifax said recent acts of aggression by the axis powers were condemned not only "by the overwhelming mass of opinion in this country, but also by most of the states of Europe and by the United States of America."

The house cheered.

Archibald Sinclar, leader of the liberal opposition, followed Attlee and also urged closer cooperation with Soviet Russia.

He said his party would be "happier" if Chamberlain and Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, were replaced in the cabinet by Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden.

Churchill, the next speaker, said he agreed with Chamberlain's declaration of policy "as far as it went."

He approved the refusal to denounce the Anglo-Italian pact, asserting:

"In spite of the bad faith with which he have been treated by Italy, I am still not convinced that the Italian nation has made up its mind to be involved in a military struggle with Britain and France in the Mediterranean."

Mentions U. S. In Debate

George Lansbury, veteran laborite, brought the United States into the debate by declaring:

"I have great admiration for President Roosevelt but I should have greater admiration for him and for Mr. Cordell if they would say that America is prepared for delegates to come to Europe before the die is cast to discuss how we can deal with economic and territorial conditions that may lead to war."

Eden, disputing Attlee's contention that Chamberlain was not embarking on a new policy, said "there could be no more serious new policy than that which was announced today with regard to Greese and Rumania. These commitments are extremely far reaching and go beyond the terms of the League (of Nations) covenant itself."

Answer Is Awaited

Chamberlain said Italy had told London that the future of Albania "depended on the wishes of the Albanian people," referring to what was described as an Albanian offer of their crown to the king of Italy.

The prime minister observed that "we await the answer of the Italian government to this offer."

The house laughed.

Chamberlain said: "Once confidence has been abruptly shaken it is not so easily reestablished." He declared Italy had given assurances that when her troops were withdrawn from Spain "Italian planes and pilots would leave also."

Expressing a desire for good relations with Italy, Chamberlain said that "it is to the Italian government that I look for practical evidence that they share my desire."

Chamberlain was interrupted by opposition shouts of "What about Russia?" and "Deal With Russia!"

Government supporters then shouted "Take no notice."

Close Touch With Russia

Chamberlain, however, answered the opposition with this statement: "We are keeping in the closest touch with the representatives of Soviet Russia."

Chamberlain added: "Members must not assume that if I did not mention Russia that meant we were not keeping in closest touch with representatives of that country. We have had many difficult tasks in considering not only what we wished but what other people also were willing to do."

Regarding Italian troops in Spain Chamberlain added that Britain regarded their evacuation "as a vital element in the Anglo-Italian agreement, and we look forward to its early fulfillment.

Chamberlain deplored "the intolerable state of tension and alarm in which the world is being kept—poisoning every phase of human activity in every country."

Chamberlain expressed his own "deep disappointment at the action by the Italian government which has cast a shadow over the genuineness of their intentions to carry out their undertakings."

He added, however, that "without any prejudice or any preconceived ideological notions we are endeavoring to the utmost of our power to marshal the forces which are still in favor of peace and willing to resist aggression and I hope our efforts may be successful."

Chamberlain added: "Once again this house is facing grave and serious issues. Once again there has been brought home to all of us the intolerable nature of a state of things which keeps the whole world in a perpetually recurring series of alarms, damaging commerce and industry, depressing social life and culture and poisoning every phase of human activity in every country."

Powers Not Threatened

ROME, April 13—(AP)—Fascists regarded Prime Minister Chamberlain's announcement of Anglo-French guarantees to Greece and Rumania today as "unnecesary and gratuitious" because, they said, the independence of neither of these powers had been threatened.

They called attention especially to the fact that Premier Mussolini had given assurances on Monday to Greece that Italy had no hostile designs toward her and that the Greek government had accepted those assurances.

Welcome Assurance

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April they "welcome heartily" the assurance of Anglo-French support for Rumania given by Prime Minister Chamberlain in London.

There was no formal statement from the foreign office.

Occasions Surprise

BERLIN, April 13—(AP)—Indications were given in official German circles today that Nazi leaders were unprepared for the inclusion of Rumania as well as Greece in the Anglo-French pledges of protection announced by Prime Minister Chamberlain in London.

Chamberlain's reference to Turkey—indicating the prospect that the pledges might be extended to the guardian of the Dardanelles—also caused surprise.

Informed circles expected Nazis would seize upon Chamberlain's statement that Britain was continuing conversations with Soviet Russia as further evidence in support of their charges that Britain is helping admit Bolshevism into the smaller nations of Europe.

Sedalia's Boys Are Taught Not To Be Afraid Of Police

classes of the Junior Police. Fischer is now in complete charge of the group.

The police department here, Fischer explains, thought that they would have much less trouble with juvenile delinquency and times, when they learned that a cop doesn't stick boys in jail every time he sees them, their attitude changed. They began to ask questions about police work, to take an interest in technical details such as fingerprinting, and they forgot all about being afraid.

At present, there are about 100 boys who attend regularly, and the remainder come in occasionally. There is no compulsion for a boy to attend—if he doesn't want to come he can stay away.

All boys were sworn in by a judge when they joined the Association. They are encouraged to maintain good school attendance, given instructions on crime prevention, taught safety rules as applied to traffic and play and encouraged to take up some form of athletics to build up health and character.

Organize Softball Teams

Last summer, softball teams were organized among the class members and a regular schedule was played. This year the police plan to rent the swimming pool in Liberty park for the boys' use. Classes in first aid, for the older boys, will also start soon.

There has been a decided drop in petty thefts since the Junior Police were organized, department records show. One of the main reasons for the Junior Police, Fischer said, is to give the underprivileged children a chance and to teach them not to steal things they haven't the money to buy.

The boys have no badges and uniforms now, but Fischer thinks they may sponsor a dance this summer to raise money for these. J. T. Alexander, of the music department at Smith-Cotton, and Professor C. C. Hubbard, principal at Lincoln school, have offered their help in forming a drum and bugle corps in the group.

Each school has a group of officers in the organization. It is planned, however, to let the regular attenders elect their own officers from the group as a whole.

Second Town In U. S.

Sedalia was the second town in the United States to form such an organization, Kansas City the first. Cecil Lander, 924 South Kentucky, was the first registrant in the Junior Police.

Before they started, officers say, the average boy in Sedalia would never think of stopping to speak with them. Now they are constantly being hailed by members of the Junior Police, who have forgotten to be afraid of a cop.

House Passes A Pay Increase Bill To Judges

absorbing 16 state boards and departments. The proposal would be voted on by the people in November, 1940.

A public welfare administrator would be elected every four years, in the off-year balloting, to head the new department.

Among the boards which would be absorbed are the social security commission, unemployment compensation commission, cancer hospital commission, elementary board, department of penal institutions, board of health, board of probations and parole, board of optometry, board of barber examiners, and the board of embalming.

The house completed its lengthy debate on a revised sales tax measure broadening the state auditor's enforcement powers, and perfected the bill for passage.

The proposal keeps the 2 per cent rate but contains extensive revisions of the present law. Another sales levy bill which simply re-enacts the law now on the books but extends it another two years is pending in the senate.

Accuse Saloon Keeper As The 'Head Man'

narcotics said the ring's "distribution fanned in every direction except eastward."

"It covered the Pacific northwest," he said. "Its drugs were shipped to Minneapolis. Its operators were active in New Orleans and the coast.

"Conservatively, I would say the Kansas City ring handled one million dollars' worth of drugs each month."

Another held here was Otis H. Colburn, 40, a uniformed policeman. The federal spokesman said evidence indicated Colburn acted as a guard for narcotics shipments.

The spokesman said the federal men worked for 19 months at lesser distributing points—Seattle, Minneapolis, Dallas, Denver and New Orleans—before they learned that Kansas City was the source of supply.

The narcotics came here, he said, from New York, where Charles Cassesa and Dominick Bartonin were arrested yesterday. Maj. Garland Williams, narcotics bureau agent there, said Cassessa sent most of the drugs here.

Hunt Starts After Death

A spokesman for the bureau of narcotics, detailing an amazing account of how the ring was uncovered here, said the long hunt really started with the mysterious death of one-eyed Maxie Gordon, narcotic peddler, near El Paso, Tex., in 1937. Gordon's wife later was killed with an ice pick and stuffed in a barrel in New York.

The probing agents accelerated their investigation as a more violent type of drug with a more violent aftermath began appearing increasingly in midwestern and western cities. It was a more compact drug and could be shipped easier without detection.

The spokesman said the drug came from Tientsin, China, by way of the Suez Canal to Paris, thence to New York and Kansas City.

Surprise at Warsaw

News of the arrest of Charles Ferguson, of Warsaw, as one of the suspects in the national drug ring, in Kansas City, came as a surprise to residents of Warsaw.

Ferguson, a man of about sixty years, is a native of Benton county, and according to residents of that place held in the highest esteem. He operates a tourist camp three or four miles west of Warsaw.

Large shipments of the drug were sent from Kansas City by air express to contact points in Washington, Wyoming, Idaho and Colorado.

Secret warrants have been issued for at least four more key members of the syndicate. The U. S. marshal's office indicated one of the men was an associate of Donnici.

Police Guard at Room

EL PASO, Tex., April 13.—(AP)—One-eyed Maxie Gordon, whose death here put into motion a chain of events which ended in the smashing of a million dollar narcotics ring in Kansas City, was killed July 31, 1937, near Sierra Blanao, Texas, when his car struck a tree while he was en route from El Paso to Dallas.

Mike Gargotta, 41 who told department of justice agents that he was a Kansas City night club operator, received a fractured leg in the accident. El Paso police guarded Gargotta's hospital room while he was here and barred visitors. A New York detective later came to El Paso and examined papers found in Gordon's effects, apparently dealing with the narcotics traffic.

"Drugs Buried On Farm"

KANSAS CITY, April 13—(AP)—Smashing of a narcotics ring here disclosed today that the victim of a gang murder in March, 1938, would have been arrested in the present clean-up.

"Tony Cammisa was an underling of Angelo Donnici in the drug trade," J. Bruce Greeson, head of the narcotics bureau said, "and most certainly would have been one of the important arrests to add to the thirteen made yesterday."

Cammisa was found shot to death near Excelsior Springs, Mo.

The farm of Charles Ferguson, another of yesterday's arrests, was pictured today by federal agents as a rural hideout for the storing of large quantities of the syndicate's narcotics. At times, they said, some of the drugs were buried on the farm, two miles southeast of Warsaw, Mo.

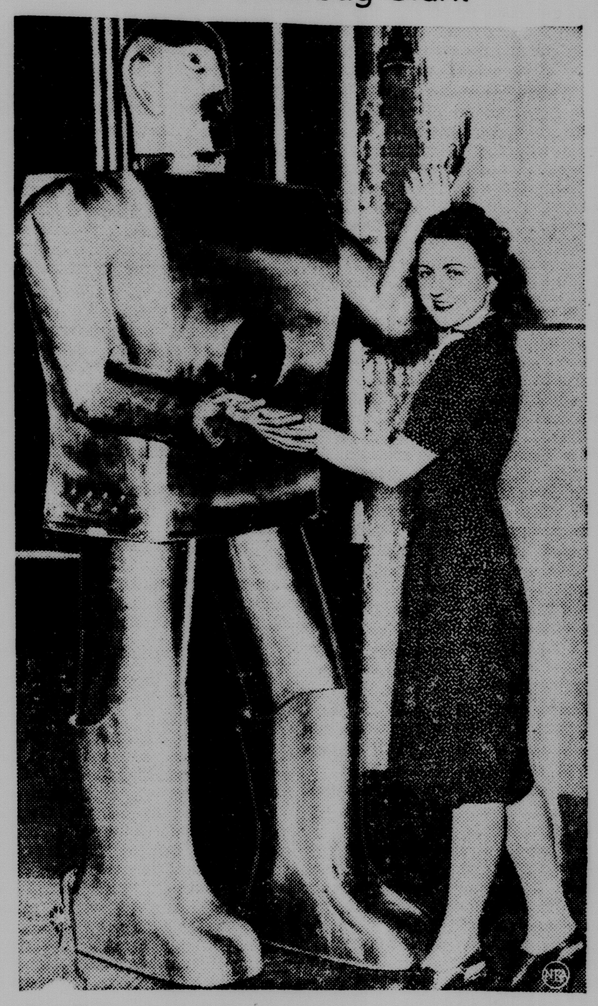

Asserts Trade Pact Impeded

Officials said administration leaders considered the subsidy program a more powerful weapon for disposing of surpluses than the proposal to exchange cotton and wheat to other countries for such strategic war materials as rubber and tin. However, the administration favors use of both plans, officials said.

The increase in benefit payments sought by a group of southern senators amounted to $250,000,000 to be given producers of cotton, wheat, rice, corn and tobacco. Some middle western senators are equally insistent on a $150,000,000 increase to expand the present government program of buying surplus dairy, fruit and other farm crops for relief distribution.

Robot Jitterbug Giant

Even Elektro, the mechanical man, takes up modern tempo to swing a few steps with Grace Goldsworthy at his debut luncheon in Pittsburgh, Pa. Creation of the Westinghouse Co., Elektro can walk, talk, distinguish colors, and count up to 10.

Suggests Steps To Provide Coal

NEW YORK, April 13—(AP)—Mayor La Guardia suggested today that various New York City institutions, facing a possible coal shortage because operators and miners have been unable to agree on a new wage-hour contract, might "lease or even buy a mine" to insure an adequate fuel supply.

The mayor's statement followed his appearance before the soft coal negotiating committee, deadlocked for several weeks over terms of a new contract to replace the one that expired March 31, leaving 338,000 miners idle.

"Leasing or buying a mine would be an extreme measure," he said, "but we must have electric current in this city of seven million persons where most of our power is generated by steam."

The mayor said rapid transit and electric light and power industries have on hand coal for only three to six weeks.

"Now is the time to start worrying about the situation, not when your coal supply is exhausted," he said.

When the committee adjourned for luncheon, Charles O'Neill of New York, spokesman for the operators, was asked if he thought such extreme measures as outlined by the mayor might be necessary.

"Undoubtedly," O'Neill said, "if there is not a statement."

John L. Lewis, CIO president and one of four negotiators for the union, would not comment.

"Is there any change in the situation with hope of a contract agreement?" O'Neill was asked.

"No," he replied, "but we are always hopeful."

The issue is a closed shop.

Urges Care In Public Speech

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH) asked the senate today to express condemnation of "all inflammatory statement and press releases of the officials of this government which have the effect of antagonizing the peoples of other nations against us."

The New Hampshire senator introduced a resolution saying that "it is the sense of the senate that this government must do all in its power to prevent American manhood from dying on the battlefields of Europe and to prevent American women and children from the hazards which modern war presents to non combatants at home."

The resolution further set out that "the senate urges upon the people of the United States cool and calm consideration of events transpiring in Europe to the end that they may not be lased into war by militant utterances from whatever source."

In a statement, Bridges said he was asking "senate disapproval and condemnation of the public utterances of the president and other high governmental officials which are of an inflammatory nature and tend to create war hysteria in the United States."

"It can not be denied," Bridges said, "that the president, due to his high position as head of this government, should use great care and judgment in his public utterances.

"I have particular reference to his statement made before embarking upon his recent fishing trip, a statement to the effect that he might be forced to cut his trip short due to a sudden European crisis.

"This particular statement not only caused unrest in this country, but in Europe as well.

Kennedy May Be The Barterer

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—The job of bartering American cotton and wheat for rubber, tin and other strategic war materials may be assigned to Joseph B. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain.

Senators backing the scheme said today that Secretary Hull apparently had received favorably a suggestion that Kennedy be delegated to undertake preliminary negotiations.

One senator who asked anonymity said he believed the ambassador, because of his contacts with British officials, might be able to cut away much of the red tape that ordinarily would surround discussions.

As outlined by Senator Byrnes (D-SC) the barter plan would call for an exchange of surplus American products for essential materials not produced in this country. Contracting parties would agree to store these materials for five years, keeping them off the market during that time.

Congress gave its consideration, meanwhile, to other developments in the field of foreign relations. Senate and house committees continued hearings on the question of revising the neutrality law, and Senator Connally (D-Tex) prepared a new war profits bill.

Job Placements Here For 135

Private job placements in March rank as the second highest placement month in the history of the Missouri State Employment Service, it was announced today by J. L. Rogers, member of the Unemployment Compensation Commission of Missouri. The State Employment Service is a division of the commission.

Of the 5,743 placements, 4,410 were in private employment and 1,333 went to public jobs. Private placements for March were the highest since April, 1937, which was a record month with 4,477.

The Sedalia Employment Office reports 32 and 103 private and public, a total of of 135.

Mrs. Mary Hare Dies At Home Here

Mrs. Mary Hare died at her home, 2021 South Osage street on Wednesday afternoon.

Surviving her are: her son Leo Johnson, his wife, Rose Johnson and little daughter, Rose Marie, all of the home address; Roy Cannon, a nephew; Lucy Pondexter, grandmother; Ardenia Pondexter, an aunt and Louis Pondexter, an uncle, all of Sedalia; Charlie Pondexter, an uncle of Des Moines, Iowa and a grandson, Calvin Johnson, of St. Louis.

Arrests In Gold Selling Ring

Thirteen Suspects Are In Custody In Four Cities

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13—(AP)—Thirteen men accused of operating a $100,000 bootleg gold selling ring were under arrest in four cities today awaiting action by a federal grand jury called into special session to consider indictments.

Months of patient investigation by the United States secret service, police and state mining agents, and carefully laid traps resulted in the 13 arrests made swiftly and almost simultaneously yesterday in New York, San Francisco, San Jose, Calif., and Oakland, Calif., and seizure of at least $24,000 in illicit gold.

Capt. Thomas B. Foster, head of the secret service in this area, said the scheme apparently hinged on collection of gold coins secretly hoarded when the gold reserve act of 1933 called them out of circulation.

Just how the hoarders were discovered and persuaded to turn over the coins, and how the coins were subsequently disposed of is not known, Foster said. However, agents worked on the theory the coins probably were melted down and sold to the mint as new gold. A $20 gold coin contains an ounce of gold, Foster said, and the current price of the metal is $35 an ounce.

Arrested in New York, with $5,000 in United States and foreign coins in his possession, agents said, was Morris Anolik, 49.

Seized in San Jose were Dan Levin, 44, proprietor of a jewelry store and Edward Friedman, 39, an employe. Foster reported seizure of about $15,000 in coins and melted bars in the basement there.

San Nankin, Broadway jeweler, was arrested in Oakland.

In San Francisco, the nine men arrested and booked as "enroute to the secret service" were Michael Galli, also known as Galliani; Edward Levy, gold dealer; Morris Farber and his son, Gus, jewelry store proprietors; George Zwillinger, gold dealer; Dominic Pensabene, jeweler; Sam Hauser, night club and liquor shop operator; Frank Lindeburg and Hugo Landecker, gold dealers.

Hauser's bail was set at $20,000, and the others at $10,000. Agents said $4,000 in gold prices were seized with Landecker.

Critical On The Neutrality Act

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—William R. Castle, former undersecretary of state in the Hoover administration, told the house foreign affairs committee today Germany appeared most likely to attack Russia if there were any European war.

Testifying at hearings on proposed revisions of the neutrality law, Castle said it was unnecessary for the United States to be drawn into any conflict in Europe and contentions she would be were "merely war propaganda."

"That the question of Democracy is not involved in shown by the fact that Germany appears most likely to attack Russia in order to be able to draw on the natural resources of the Ukraine for food," Castle said, "and Russia is as much a dictatorship as Germany."

Castle criticized the present neutrality law as giving the president authority to make decisions "beyond those normally provided by the constitution."

Six women's oganizations also expresed their collective view on neutrality legislation. They suggested to congress "the almost terrifying power" of the United States be loosed from rigid neutrality legislation.

Their spokesman, before the senate foreign affairs committee, was Mrs. Louise Leonard Wright of Chicago, chairman of the foreign policy department of the national league of women's voters.

Mrs. Wright spoke for her own organization, also the American association of university women, the general federation of women's clubs, the national board of the young women's Christian and the national council of Jewish women and the national women's trade union league.

Accused Slayer Back To Hospital

KANSAS CITY, April 13—(AP)—Frank Mangiaracina, 47, under indictment for first degree murder, was ordered returned to the State hospital for the insane at St. Joseph today, after a sanity hearing before Circuit Judge Albert A. Ridge.

Judge Ridge held Mangiarcina was mentally incapable of standing trial for the slaying June 24, 1934, of Lloyd Billings outside a downtown Kansas City saloon. The judge instructed the attorney general's office to place a hold order on Mangiaracina so that he might be tried in the event of his release from the hospital.

Mangiaracina was named in an indictment returned by the recent Jackson county grand jury summoned after Gov. Lloyd C. Stark had charged a "breakdown of law enforcement" in Kansas City. His case had been dropped by the county prosecutor's office in 1935 with a court record notation of "non-prosecution."

Obituaries

Funeral Of Miss Eula Layne

The funeral of Miss Eula Layne, 307 West Fifth street, who passed away Tuesday afternoon, was held at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Gillespie Funeral Home with the Reverend R. W. Leazer, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating.

Pall bearers were the following friends: Frank A. Miller of Centralia, Walker Boulware, William Glasgow, Oscar Keck and Robert Oman of Sedalia, and J. H. Gunn, of Otterville.

Interment was in the Crown Hill cemetery.

Urge Economy From Congress

WASHINGTON, April 13—(AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va) said today that by trimming $50,000,000 from President Roosevelt's relief request congress proved "that if we had executive leadership for economy, congress would back it up."

"But without such leadership," said Byrd, long a critic of administration spending policies, "it is apparent that no heavy reductions in federal expenditures can be made.

"The situation today is that the relief cut and reductions in other appropriation requests show congress is not willing to permit spending above the level already reached, but congress will not cut that spending much, if at all."

The $100,000,000 emergency relief appropriation which congress voted this week raised total relief appropriations for the current fiscal year to $2,691,000,000.

Byrd pointed out to reporters that this sum is the largest granted for relief in one year. The largest previous total, he said, was $2,527,000,000 in 1937. Last fiscal year the amount was $1,996,000,000.

"In the last year," Byrd said, "We've increased federal spending for all purposes by $2,000,000,000. If we could get back to the $7,000,000,000 level of a year ago, we would still be far from a balanced budget, but we would be much better off financially than we are now."

F. O. C. Class To Meet

The F. O. C. class of the Epworth M. E. church will meet Friday night with Miss Opal Dirck, 403 West Twentieth street.

Gain On Stocks Flattens Out

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP)—Wall Street shed fewer tears over Europe's troubles today and, while a quiet early stock market rally of 1 to 3 or more points flattened out at the close, sentiment generally leaned toward the buying side.

The list inclined to mark time at the start as traders studied the speech of Prime Minister Chamberlain before an emergency session of the house of commons. A mildly optimistic interpretation was placed on the address which, while deploring the invasion of Albania and announcing the support of Britain and France would go to Greece and Rumania if attacked, failed to touch off any real fireworks.

A brief purchasing flurry lifted prices substantially when the head of the British government left the door for peace open by neglecting to denounce the Anglo-Italian accord of 1938 despite the Mussolini Albanian coup. This tended to strengthen the belief of some observers that a real outbreak of hostilities would be avoided. At the same time, many speculative forces continued a bit skeptical and these kept commitments at a minimum. Jumping of war risk shipping rates, both on commodities and gold, was seen as a handicap.

Dealings dwindled in the afternoon, with transfers approximating 900,000 shares.

Church Events

The McWilliams Circle of the First Baptist church held its regular monthly meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. F. Schwenk, 1517 South Barrett avenue.

Easter Party

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Retherford, of near Clifton City, entertained a group of friends at an egg and weiner roast last Saturday evening.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Andy Klenklen, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McMullin, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Retherford, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Decker, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rugen, Mr. and Mrs. George Deuschle and families, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Selback, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Phillips, Mrs. Katie Kemper, Mrs. Nettie Durley, H. L. Retherford, Roy Retherford, Ralph Kemper, Charlie Bidstrup, Olyn Rugen, Wilbert Aurig, Clifford Ashcroft, Carl Ashcroft, Ray Ashcroft and the Misses Ashcroft, Enda Decker, Lorean Decker, Mable Lorean Maxwell, Ethel Rugen, Mary Bidstrup and Leona Forwich.

Family Party

Relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Aldredge, near Hughesville, Sunday in honor of Mrs. Aldredge's birthday anniversary. A dinner was served cafeteria style.

Those present were Mrs. Orvil Carnine and sons, Barnett, William Allen and Junior, Mrs. Davie Hooper, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell King; Mr. and Mrs. George Spry and son, Wayne, all of Postal, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Yager and son, Wilford of Pilot Grove, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hooper and sons, Clayton and Freddie Leon of Blackwater, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Parsely, of Marshall, Amos Aldredge and sons, Marvin and Howard, of the Shackelford neighborhood.

Surprise Given To Mrs. Lange

Mrs. Mary Lange, of 506 Wilkerson street, was seventy-one years old Tuesday, and in assisting her in making the occasion a most happy one a group of members of the Evangelical and Reformed church, of which she is a member, tendered her a surprise.

A buffet dinner was served and a handkerchief shower tendered her which proved of much pleasure.

Mrs. Lange is the mother of Emil, Paul and Fred Lange of this city. Other children residing in distant cities were unable to be present.

Queen Reunited With Infant Son

LARISSA, Greece, April 13.—(AP)—Queen Geraldine, Albania's fugitive Hungarian-American queen, recovered sufficient strength today to be reunited with her son, Prince Skander.

The child, born two days before the Italian invasion of Albania, had been taken from the 23 year old queen when her condition caused anxiety for her life. She had suffered hemorrhages after the flight into Greece, made in a makeshift ambulance over rough Albanian mountain roads.

The little prince was taken to her in the hospital where she is recuperating.

Exiled King Zog, now wearing civilian clothes, spent most of his time in the seclusion of an inn near the hospital, or at Geraldine's bedside.

After New Ruling On Heart Balm

MIAMI, Fla., April 13.—(AP)—A six-man jury was sought today to decide anew whether James Edgar of Detroit was entitled to $300,000 heart balm from Lewis E. Mallory, 3rd, of Bradford, Pa.

Edgar won a $35,000 verdict in 1936 on charges that the blond young oil heir kept trysts with Mrs. Edgar, who has divorced Edgar and resumed her stage name of Kathryn Crawford, but the state supreme court set it aside and ordered a retrial.

Employes of a Miami Beach hotel (Deauville), who enlivened the first trial with details of what they claimed to have seen while peering nightly through the windows of Mallory's room on the ground floor, were unavailable to testify again but Edgar's attorney expected to read their previous testimony.

Edgar was on hand but Miss Crawford's whereabouts was unknown and Mallory was ill at Bedford, Mass. His and Miss Crawford's denials also may be read. She accused Edgar of gambling, drunkenness and personal uncleanliness and asserted he beat her.

Approval Given Education Bill

JEFFERSON CITY, April 13—(AP)—Sen. W. B. Whitlow (D), Fulton, said today the senate universities committee had approved a house passed bill to develop Lincoln (Negro) university so it could offer any course available at the University of Missouri.

The bill, introduced by Rep. J. D. Taylor (D), Keytesville, as an alternative to permitting Negroes to attend the state university, will be reported to the senate floor tomorrow, Whitlow said.

It was assailed before the senate committee Monday as an "unconstitutional attempt to evade the recent United States supreme court ruling" which ordered Negroes' admittance to the Columbia institution in the absence of other equal educational opportunities within the state.

Missouri Senators Join Group

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—Four Missouri members of congress left today for Charlotesville, Va., to meet a group of 110 St. Louisians headed by Mayor Bernard Dickmann.

The St. Louis citizens are on a pilgrimage to historic spots in Virginia and Washington. Senators Truman and Clark and Representatives Hennings and Anderson, all Democrats, planned to join the group. They were to go to Monticello this afternoon where Dickmann planned to make a short talk and place a wreath on the grave of Thomas Jefferson on the 96th anniversary of his birth.

Former Senator Harry Hawes of Missouri, now a Washington attorney, accompanied the congressional group.

The Missourians will visit old Point Comfort, Williamsburg, Jamestown and Richmond. They will come to Washington Saturday.

Grand Jury And Others At County Home

• Personals

Mrs. L. R. Raines, 1317 South Ohio avenue, will go to Chicago and Galesburg, Ill., on a business trip. She will leave tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Orval Nichols of Topeka, spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Teeters, 1807 East Sixth street and her sister, Mrs. J. R. Elbert and family, 1805 East Sixth street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Elbert, 1805 East Sixth street, had as their guests over Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Hershman Palmer, of Okmulgee, Okla.

Mrs. Gordon Light and Mrs. Fred Bender left today for Omaha, Neb., to join their husbands who have employment as coach carpenters for the Union Pacific railroad company.

E. J. Noble To Aid Hopkins

WASHINGTON, April 13.—(AP)—Edward J. Noble, who built up a candy business from a one-room shop to a multi-million dollar corporation, was made second in command today of the commerce department drive to stimulate industry.

Secretary Hopkins said Noble will be "in a position to make distinct contributions to the department's efforts toward promoting recovery."

President Roosevelt asked congress to create the job of undersecretary of commerce, and said Noble would be named for it when it is authorized. Meanwhile, Noble resigned from the chairmanship of the Civil Aeronautics Authority to serve at $1 a year as executive assistant to Hopkins.

Noble, Hopkins indicated, would have the task of making the vast statistical and contact resources of the department more useful to businessmen. He will be in direct charge of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, whose attaches in foreign capitals can advise businessmen of foreign trade opportunities and conditions, and whose domestic offices keep tab on developments here.

Noble, who came to Washington last fall to be the first chairman of the CAA, is a well known philanthropist who made a fortune from his candy business (Life Savers).

At 57, he is a quick-talking, energetic man with a liking for prompt decisions and a distaste for red tape.

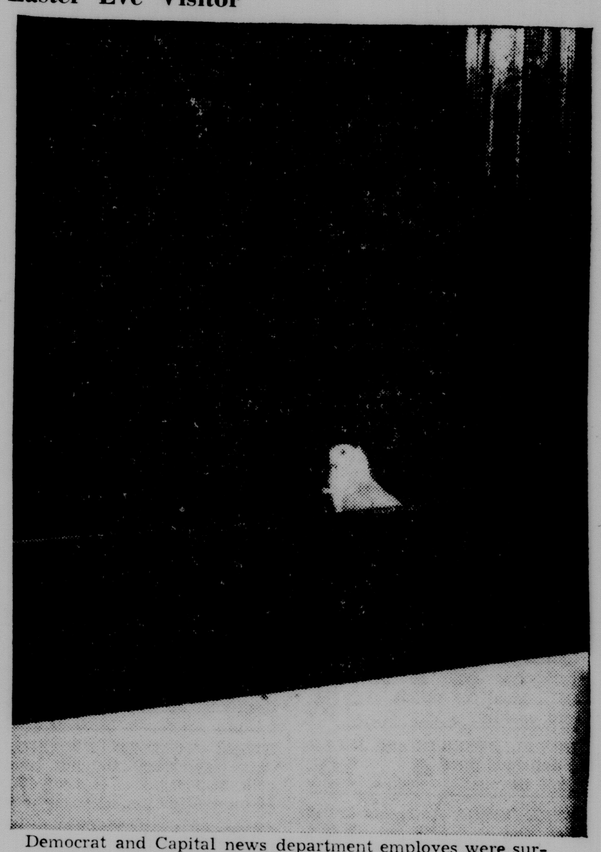

Noble has been a Republican. He is a native of Gouverneur, N. Y., and makes his home in Greenwich, Conn., and New York.

Jailed On Assault Charge

Marion Lyles, Negro, was arrested by the police on a charge of common assault in connection with the striking of Mary Nelson, Negro woman.

He was lodged in the county jail to await his trial before Judge C. W. Bente, sitting as ex-officio justice of the peace.

Easter Eve Visitor

Democrat and Capital news department employes were surprised about midnight Saturday night to see this little pigeon perched on the outside of the window sills. Flash light bulbs exploding did not frighten the bird.

Bothwell Hospital Notes

P. E. Hurley, 725 West Fourth street, underwent an operation this morning. His condition this afternoon was satisfactory.

Mrs. Frank Norfleet, of Houstonia, was admitted for surgery.

The condition of G. C. Graham is just fair this afternoon. He is still in a serious condition.

Not Yet Lineup For Bill As Unit

House Republicans Hold Caucus On Police Bill

JEFFERSON CITY, April 13—(AP)—House Republicans today awaited "the other side of the story" before considering seriously pledging themselves to support Gov. Lloyd C. Stark's Kansas City police bill as a unit.

Informed sources said the minority turned down, in secret caucus, a proposal to vote in a solid bloc for the bill to place Kansas City's police department under supervision of a board to be appointed by the governor.

Admitting the police bill "was mentioned" in the caucus, Minority Leader William E. Barton of Jonesburg said:

"I think it is the concensus that there are always two sides to a story. We've heard only one."

He referred to the initial hearing on the bill before the house judiciary committee Tuesday night. Opponents will represent their case next Wednesday.

Observers have agreed that the governor's proposal is assured staunch Republican backing. Only a very few of the 51 active minority members are considered in the doubtful class.

Urge for More Funds

Earlier, Attorney General Roy McKittrick, preparing to prosecute persons indicted by the recent Jackson county grand jury, urged the senate appropriations committee to double the $50,000 crime-fighting fund approved for him by the house.

"If I'm going to respond to all these demands for cleaning up crime I've got to have more money than the house voted me," McKittrick told the committee.

"If I had $500 to spare I think I could uncover one of the leading crimes in St. Louis by Saturday night," he declared.

McKittrick refused to elaborate on the statement. Among St. Louis investigations his office has been making in an inquiry into the attempted slaying of Lee Baker, Negro star witness in the recent bombing trial of Isadore Londe. The latter was convicted and sentenced to 25 years.

Originally Gov. Stark, who ordered the attorney general to "clean up" Kansas City, recommended $100,000 for "investigation and prosecution" of criminal cases, but the house slashed it in half.

Alter Sales Tax Bill

The senate way and means committee reported favorably today a bill extending the 2 per cent sales tax to December 31, 1941, after altering it to overcome an attack on its constitutionality.

The bill, passed by the house, was amended so that the present law would be re-enacted in it entirety.

Sen. Phil Donnelly (D), Lebanon, chairman of the committee, said the attorney general's office had ruled the measure unconstitutional on grounds it did not re-amended one section. The act now enact the present law but only in effect will expire December 31 this year.

The amended bill must go back to the house for concurrence after action by the senate.

Muddy, Sallow Broken-Out Skin?

Many Never Know Why—But Reason May Be This

Many persons with pimples, and muddy, unhealthy looking skin go on being miserable when they might easily clear them up in a short time. Oftentimes slowed-down activity on the part of the stomach and bowels are at the bottom of these troubles. Food turns sour in stomach and bowels. Too many wastes and acids go into the blood and these poisons are one of the main causes that often make your skin break out, grow muddy — your eyes look dull, your breath bad and keep you tired and depressed.

Ask your druggist for Tanlac. Tanlac is made expressly to help tone up weak, sluggish stomach and bowels. It has been used successfully by millions for over 20 years. Get Tanlac today.

April Patrol Poster

Coincident with balmy spring weather which brings out hundreds of youthful roller-skaters, the Automobile Club of Missouri has issued to schools supplies of the April AAA school safety poster and graded teacher's lesson sheets based on the them: "Skate on Sidewalk."

"The new poster is one of the popular Favorite Fable Series being furnished monthly to aid teachers in their splendid job of safety education," P. F. Drury, safety director of the Automobile Club said. "It depicts the 'Cat and the Fiddle', the 'Laughing Dog' and the 'Dish and the Spoon' of the never-to-be-forgotten Mother Goose rhyme, happily skating on the sidewalk.

"Lesson sheets, too, issued to teachers," Mr. Drury added, "emphasize the necessity for children to skate on the sidewalk or other safe place away from traffic. Many children are killed and injured by automobiles while on skates in the street, and we hope this safety material will help teachers impress the danger on child minds and thus prevent such tragedies here."

A Good Bargain Worth Knowing

By Martha Logan

How easy it is to follow a routine of meat dishes with seldom an innovation. Yet with the wide variety of cuts of the different types of meat is no need for monotomy.

Did you know that each day there is some bargain in the meat case? Because the price of any meat depends on the supply and demand, you will find some of the less demanded cuts of meat are the buy-of-the-day.

Lamb liver is a bargain worth knowing. These livers weigh about one pound each and are mild flavored, light colored, tender and really "good eating." A large supply of lamb liver is available almost all year around and the demand is usually slight because so few women know about it. For this reason the price of this high-quality liver is usually less than that of beef liver. Few people could tell the difference in the eating quality, and as to nutritional merits, lamb liver like calf liver is a good source of high-quality protein, iron, copper and phosphorus and the Vitamins A and G, also some B and C. This, in every day terms, means that lamb liver is not only good to eat but it is also a real bargain of first rank.

It is not necessary to scald liver before frying, broiling, or baking, but if you wish to grind it, you will find scalding simplifies the process. Just wipe the liver with a damp cloth, remove the skin and membrane, then slice ¼ to ½ inch thick, leave whole, or grind according to the recipe.

Liver and Bacon

Pan-broil bacon, allowing 2 to 4 slices per serving. Pour off fat and save. When bacon is crisp, remove from pan and keep hot. Add bacon drippings to pan and proceed to pan-fry liver. Serve with fried apple or onion slices.

Liver en Brochette

Metal skewers strung with pieces of sliced liver alternating with pieces of sliced bacon make delicious individual brochettes served on buttered toast. Broil as for broiled liver. Other combinations are:

1. Liver, fresh mushrooms, bacon.
2. Liver, veal steak, bacon.
3. Liver, beef sirloin, bacon.

Liver Puffs

1½ pounds liver
3 onions
1 egg
1 cup cracker crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
1-cup hot water

Cook the liver, either by boiling until tender or by frying. Put it and the onions through the meat grinder. Add 1 egg well beaten and 1 cup of cracker crumbs and the salt. Lastly, add the cup of hot water. Mix all together thoroughly, form into little pats, and fry a golden brown in hot lard.

SUPER SELF A&P MARKETS
OWNED AND OPERATED BY THE GREAT ATLANTIC & PACIFIC TEA COMPANY

SAVE AS YOUR NEIGHBORS SAVE!
BUY at A&P MARKETS--GET LOW PRICES

It's probably no secret in your neighborhood, that A&P Super Markets have the values. And because of it, you'll see your neighbors returning home from A&P with all of their food needs plus a happy smile that comes from the knowledge that at last they've found the place to get more good food for less money. Join the crowds that go to A&P—you'll save money galore—and here's why: A&P prices are low on everything we sell—EVERY DAY IN THE WEEK! We keep prices low by doing everything we can to eliminate many in-between profits and handling charges. For example—we buy direct from farmers and manufacturers—this does away with many handling charges and extra profits, that raise food prices. We sell for cash, because as everyone knows "charge accounts" are costly. There are no ornate fixtures in our stores and we have no delivery service, because both of these increase the cost of food. A&P practices efficiency that we may give you lower prices.. Join your neighbors, and help your food budget, by shopping at A&P.

Menu

Breakfast: Grapefruit on half shells, cinnamon buns, Canadian bacon, coffee, milk.
Luncheon: Toasted cheese sandwiches, spring salad bowl, stewed apricots, cup cakes, tea, milk.
Dinner: Radishes, beef liver loaf, baked potatoes, broccoli with Hollandaise sauce, fruit cup, chocolate layer cake, coffee, milk.

One pound beef liver, 1 medium-sized onion, ¼ pound salt pork (reserving 2 thin slices), ¾ cup dry bread crumbs, ¼ tablespoon minced parsley, ¼ cup diced celery, 2 teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon thyme, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Wash and remove membrane from liver. Cut liver in small pieces and put through food chopper two or three times. Chop onion and pork. (The finer the meat is chopped the better the loaf). Add celery, parsley, crumbs, milk and seasonings. Mix well. Place in a small, greased loaf tin. Put thin strips of salt pork on top. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 1¼ hours.

Menu

Breakfast: Fruit wheel coffee cake, crisp bacon, coffee, milk.
Luncheon: Chicken broth in cups, lettuce and green pepper salad, kumquats stuffed with cream cheese, French rolls, fruit bowl, tea, milk.
Dinner: Fried ham steak, mustard cream gravy, new potatoes, asparagus, endive with French dressing, maple-walnut layer cake, coffee, milk.

Bake in moderately hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 25 minutes. When done brush with topping made of confectioner's sugar and milk. Sprinkle sliced almonds over the icing. Serve hot or cold.

Sour Cream Coffee Cake

One cup sour cream, ½ teaspoon soda, 2 eggs, 1½ cups sifted flour, 1 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons baking powdered sugar and chopped nut meats, or butter, cinnamon and sugar.

Combine and beat sour cream, soda and eggs. Sift the sifted flour again with sugar, baking powder and salt. Add sifted ingredients to cream mixture. Beat batter until smooth. Spread dough in shallow, lightly greased 8x10-inch pan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees F.) oven until done. While still hot, sprinkle with sugar and nuts, or butter, cinnamon and sugar.

There are three classes of mineral wool: rock wool, slag wool and glass wool.

Novak Wins In California Tournament

Kansas Citian Gets Decision Over Mich. Heavyweight

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13—(AP)—With two of three defending champions still on deck and the Ffield of 182 trimmed more than half, America's top-notch young gladiators return for another leather-throwing session tonight in the National A. A. U. amateur boxing championships.

Tonight's bouts include quarter-finals, and tomorrow night the three-day tournament winds up with the crowning of champions in eight weight divisions.

Knockouts were few yesterday afternoon and last night as the first and second round bouts were run off in two rings before a crowd of several thousand. The fighters represented 60 cities in 26 states and Hawaii, and provided this city with its biggest fistic carnival in years.

Bill Speary, of Philadelphia, national bantamweight campion the past two years, knocked out Abe Suazo, of Denver, in 1:42 of the first round and came back later to pound out a decision over Emmett Grier, of Detroit.

Another defending champion, Bill Eddy of Flint, Mich., outpointed Cleon Williams of Malad, Idaho, and scored a technical knockout of Mitchell Walton, Columbus, O., in 1:03 of the second round.

Bradley Lewis of Albany, N. Y., middleweight champion last year, lost by decision in his first round encounter to Ezzard Charles, rangy Negro from Cincinnati.

Tony Novak of Kansas City finished fast to take the decision over Don Van, Pontiac, Mich., in a heavyweight bout in which both fighters absorbed plenty if punishment.

Tigers Go To Liberty

The Smith-Cotton high school Tiger track team and the school tennis team will journey to Liberty, Mo., Friday where they will participate in the William Jewell track meet.

The following will compose the track team which will be captained by Ray Rayl; Tommy Sanders, Ted Ellis, Cliff Logan, Glenn Gudorp, C. O. Green, Leroy Brauer, Jack Graham, Bob Hausam. The squad will be in charge of Coach Jimmy Obermiller.

Burney Morris will take the following to represent the tennis team: Jack Woods, Cecil Hill, Lynn Schilb and Melvin Winrod.

Coach Obermiller announced this morning the track team will remain in Liberty over Friday night and Saturday morning go to Chillicothe where they will enter the C. B. C. relays sponsored by the Chillicothe Business College.

Farr Favorite To Beat Burman

LONDON, April 13—(AP)—Tommy Farr was a 4 to 5 favorite to beat Red Burman in their 12-round bout tonight although he lost all five fights he had in America, including a ten-round decision to Burman.

Dodgers Still Daffy, But Have a Stronger Club

Brooklynites May Surprise League Rivals

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

CLEARWATER, Fla., April 13.—They're the same old Dodgers.

Pete Coscarart launched the exhibition game season by doubling into a no-hit, no-run game . . . neglected to touch first base on the only thing that even faintly resembled a hit off Whitey Moore and Recruit Gene Thompson of the Cincinnati Reds.

Then, against the Yankees, G. Tucker Stainback pasted what appeared to be a home run over the left field bleachers with Vito Tamulis on base. The Yankees claimed a ground rule made it a double, and while they were arguing, and in the confusion, Tuck Stainback passed Tamulis as they rounded third base.

Everything continues to happen to the Daffy Dodgers, yet their comedy may turn out to be entirely too subtle for the supposed National league leaders this trip.

There is a baseball saying now that a player is old enough to play with Brooklyn, but this is only because Leland Stanford MacPhail did the highly intelligent thing of signing old blokes like J. Arthur Sewell and Anthony Lazzeri as reservists.

This move makes it possible to say that the Flatbush Fusileers are stronger in every department.

The Dodgers scarcely can be referred to as the Old Gentlemen from the banks of the Gowanus, for the average age of the regulars is only 27, with the second basing combination providing the youngest and oldest . . . Leo Durocher at 32 and Coscarart 10 years his junior.

Mungo Shows Promise Of Regaining Form

MacPhail made Durocher manager with an eye to getting good years out of one of the finest defensive shortstops who ever played the game, and Lippy Leo has his noble athletes hustling like himself.

Brooklyn has a wealth of fine talent.

If Van Lingle Mungo continues to throw with the same easy over-hand delivery that has characterized his warmups to date, the erstwhile fireball king will quickly regain his old salary and position as the outfit's No. 1 pitcher. He easily could be the top flinger in the business.

Mungo should be ably assisted by Luke Hamlin, J. Whitlow Wyatt and fat Fred Fitzsimmons.

And not one of 11 others can be counted out at this writing.

Hugh Casey and Russell Evans, up from the Southern Association, and Ira Hutchinson, formerly of the Boston Bees, look especially formidable. Vito Tamulis, husky southpaw, won 12 games for the seventh-place Dodgers in 1938. Bill Posedel only has to master control. This may be Forrest Pressnell's year.

* * *

Phelps Will Handle Bulk Of Catching

Like Mungo, Wayne LaMaster, Jim Winford and Johnny LaRocco seem to have rid themselves of arm trouble.

Well—How Do They Look, Boss?

Mungo May Have Found Old Skill

Durocher has no idea of giving up on Kemp Wicker, a southpaw discarded by the Yankees.

Bill Crouch, who reported late, was Nashville's ace in tying Red Evans and the St. Louis Cardinal's Tom Sunkel in leading the Southern Association in victories with 21.

The gigantic E. Gordon Phelps, a rousing hitter, will do the bulk of the catching with Luke Sewell and Ray Hayworth in reserve.

Adolph Camilli gives the club a home-run hitter and a flossy fielder at first.

Coscarart, a slick double play maker with Durocher, batted .315 for Nashville.

While he leaves considerable to be desired offensively, Cookie Lavagetto is adequate at third.

Goodwin Rosen, who lacks power, was the best Brooklyn fly chaser in 1938. He is now a reservist, which gives you a fine idea of how far the club has come along in that department.

Tuck Stainback and Gene Moore, the latter obtained from the Bees, have center and right fields clinched, while Ernie Koy and Fred Sington, the Alabama alumnus, fight it out in left.

They're the same old Dodgers, but Flatbush Funsters have run high in the percentage standings before . . . and when the National league was not popularly referred to as another minor.

Baer Feels He Can Beat Louis

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, April 13.—(AP)—By the very power and speed of his own arguments, Max Baer appears to have convinced himself he is a better fighter than Joe Louis and that he is destined to knock the crown off the Negro's head no later than next September.

Nine-tenths of Max's conversation, of course, is not to be taken seriously, but I believe he's leveling about this.

"Just put it down," said the former champion, "that I will beat Nova and then Louis, and that I will be the first man ever to win back the heavyweight title. I'm not fooling about this.

"Sure, Louis stopped me the last time, but what of it? I took that fight for the money and didn't have an idea in the world I would win. But I took everything he handed out, didn't I, and I wasn't on my back when they stopped it.

"He's not such a great hitter. Schmeling hurt me more with one punch on the nose than all the blows Louis hit me. Who has Louis knocked out so that they went down kicking, like Dempsey used to hit them, and they had to be carried out of the joint. Nobody. Louis can't hit that way."

But, someone interjected, Louis sure seemed to get results.

"Results?" yelled Maxie. Anybody can get results against hams like he's been fighting. Sure, I know you're all laughing to yourselves about what he did to me. Go ahead and laugh, but wait until you see us in that ring the next time.

"I've been fighting eleven years already. I've been champion, but I know I'm a better man now at 30 than I ever was."

Max was brought out of his reverie by the reminder that he still had to lick Nova before he could get at the bomber.

"Don't try to bother me about that. I'll put up $5,000 even money on myself right now."

For all his talking, Max still is a fine figure of a man. He weighs 218 now and expects to scale 208 for Nova. His stomach is flat and his legs trim. He says his hands are in far better shape than when Louis splattered him about in 1935. He thinks maybe Louis isn't as good as he was in 1935.

960 MEN REVEAL HOW TO SAVE MONEY ON WHISKEY!

"OLD QUAKER is Mild! Smooth! Rich in Flavor!" Say 960 Out of 1,000 Men — Supporting Our Belief this Low-Priced Whiskey Tastes Like a High-Priced Brand!

● There's good news for you in the result of a dramatic whiskey survey among 1,000 men, who were asked to try Old Quaker and say frankly what they thought of it.

Not one of these men knew the name of the whiskey he was judging—yet 960 out of 1,000 praised Old Quaker's rich, mild mellowness, its delicious taste!

If you agree with these 960 men, you can probably cut your whiskey bills a third. Try Old Quaker and see for yourself!

Part Of Costs On A Magistrate

PITTSBURGH, April 13.—(AP)—A criminal court jury which freed two youths accused of "beating" pin ball machines assessed half the cost of trying the case on Magistrate George Seibel because he did not dispose of the matter in police court.

The unusual action yesterday followed visiting Judge C. D. Fetterhoff's assertion Seibel, who held the youths for grand jury action, should have settled the case because it involved only $1.40. He said the jury could make the magistrate share the costs if it desired.

Acquitted by the jury were Mike Gally, 22, and Kenneth Hathaway, 26. They were charged with larceny by trick for boring holes in the side of pin ball machines and inserting a wire to short-circuit the "bumps" as the devices were being played, bringing up high pay scores.

Bridge Players Into A Turmoil

BERKELEY, Calif., April 13.—(AP)—Four bridge hands the statisticians figured would come up but one in 158,000,000,000 deals threw the Berkeley Country Club's invitation bridge into a turmoil.

Around the table sat Mrs. Sam H. Hardin, Mrs. J. S. Cassidy, Mrs. N. P. Goelzer and Mrs. G. C. Johnson.

"Why, I have 13 hearts!"

Suddenly Mrs. Johnson gasped.

Mrs. Cassidy echoed: "And I have all clubs."

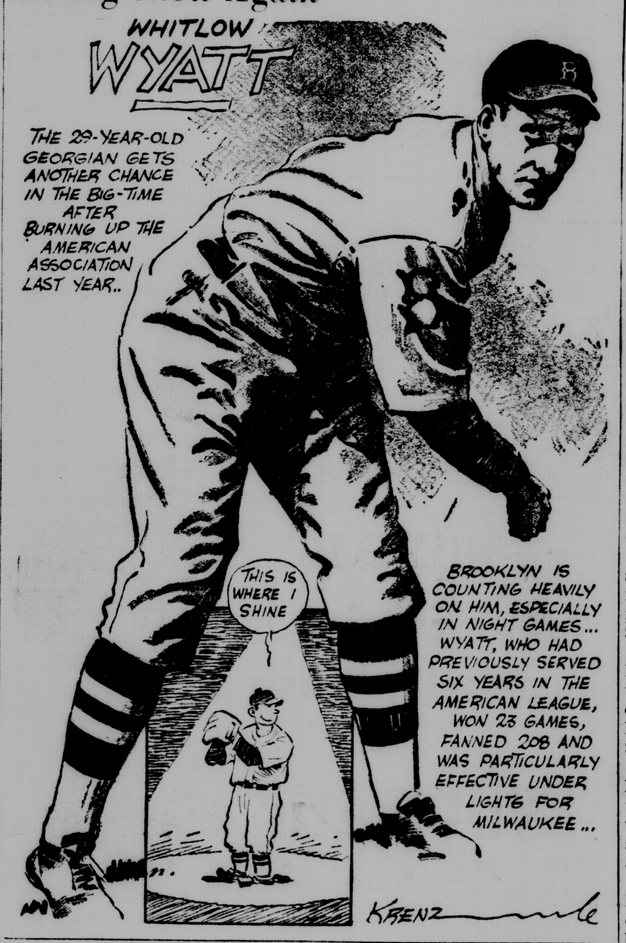

Mrs. Hardin, who was a partner of Mrs. Goelzer, the dealer, held 13 spades and Mrs. Goelzer had 13 diamonds.

When the commotion quieted down Mrs. Hardin bid seven spades, the others passed and threw in their hands and 1,510 points were scored to the account of Mrs. Hardin and Mrs. Goelzer for their non-vulnerable grand slam.

PABST GETS THE CALL

It's Keener Refreshment —Brisk-Bodied, Not Logy!

●"Make Mine Pabst!" That's the call in the finest places from coast to coast. Because Blue Ribbon is lighter... brighter... never syrupy or logy. Nothing to slow up its more invigorating tingle. It quenches thirst with a keener thrill—and keeps you feeling marvelously refreshed. Don't expect to find this master-blended formula in any other beer. It's a 95-year Pabst secret. So, when you step out, insist on BLUE RIBBON.

And America's Homes Give Pabst the Call!

From coast to coast, Pabst is first in America's homes! This overwhelming preference is the truest measure of popularity—won by 95 years of Pabst quality. Order Blue Ribbon today. Your choice of bottles or handy, space-saving cans.

At the St. Regis—where New York's smart world meets and dines—Pabst Gets the Call . . . as it does in thousands of other fine hotels, clubs, restaurants and lounges from coast to coast!

• The Family Doctor

Prominent these days in the public prints is the tissue found in the male, but not in the female, known as the prostate gland.

The average man seldom knows even that he has a prostrate gland until he has passed the age of 50 years. During early life its only function seems to be the supplying of a small amount of secretion which passes from the body with the secretion of the sex glands.

After middle age there frequently occurs an enlargement or overgrowth of these tissues which is chiefly harmful because of its interference with the elimination of the fluid that passes from the kidneys into the bladder.

In addition to the simple enlargements of the prostate which occur after middle age the gland sometimes produces disturbances by becoming infected. Like many another tissue in the human body it may develop cancer.

Thus some experts in urology, which is the specialty devoted to diseases of this type, assert that one out of every five cases of sudden enlargement of the prostate late in life is cancerous.

When the prostate gland becomes sufficiently enlarged it may press upon or obstruct the tube through which the fluid passes, preventing a complete emptying of the bladder. There is always the possibility that this residual fluid may become the medium for the growth of germs.

When the germs grow and develop their toxins the tissues become inflamed. Under such circumstances, the inflammation may be relieved if the tissues are given opportunity to rest by putting the patient to bed, by releasing the fluid through passing a soft rubber directly into the bladder itself, by washing out the bladder with suitable solutions and by giving medicaments which pass into the urine and exert an antiseptic influence.

In many instances there may be some reduction in the enlargement of the prostate gland and thus an operative procedure may be avoided. If, however, such simple measures do not bring about relief, an operative procedure may be necessary.

Among the operations on the prostate the new one now frequently done for simple enlargement of the gland is known as the transurethral resection.

This operation does not require cutting into the surface of the body. A tube is passed upward through the organs of excretion until it reaches the area of the prostate.

Then bit by bit, portions of the prostate are removed through this tube, and it is possible in many instances to remove the major portion of the enlargement.

In other instances operations are done directly on the gland, approaching it from above through the bladder or from below through the tissues that lie between the legs.

With the great improvements that have taken place in modern surgical technique, these operative procedures are successful in the majority of cases, because a competent, careful surgeon will not operate on patients when they are not considered to be good surgical risks.

Fortunately there are now many able urologists accessible to most of the United States capable of doing good work of this kind.

• Stamp News

FIRST-DAY sales of the U. S. three-cent New York World's Fair commemorative reached the highest figure in the history of the Post Office Department. There were 1,964,743 stamps sold at New York for $58,942.29. Included in this figure were 585,000 first-day covers. Sales of the stamp at the Washington Philatelic agency the next day totaled $11,847.48 for 394,916 stamps, including 10,599 covers.

The four-cent Army and Navy and the five-cent Army stamps have been removed from sale at the Washington Philatelic agency. The five-cent Navy stamp was removed previously when the supply was exhausted. Sales of all stamps at the agency during March totaled $84,602.03.

An initial order of 50,000,000 Washington inaugural stamps has been placed with the U. S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing. These will be printed by the flat-plate process.

Alvin R. Meissner is designer of this stamp, J. Eissler and E. M. Hall, engravers. The stamp will be issued April 30.

Newfoundland will issue a commemorative in honor of the visit to Canada of the British monarchs. It will be a five-cent value, large, bearing portraits of King George and Queen Elizabeth at each side of Newfoundland's coat-of-arms.

* * *

Apparently the U. S. Post Office Department plans no re-issue of the part-perforated errors of the six-cent bi-color airmail stamp and the 10-cent special delivery value. Philatelists had requested re-issues on the ground that prices of these errors were exorbitant. A limited number of both stamps are said to be available.

Cranium Crackers

Can you spot the five errors in the following statements?

1. "Old Scratch" is a church favorite.
2. "Prompt" is a synonym for "dilatory."
3. Propiety means conformity to establish custom.
4. "Sans gene" is a Latin term, meaning "without embarrassment."
5. Xanthos was the prophetic human companion of Achilles in the Trojan war.

Help the "Cowardly" Child To Say "Pleased to Meet You" To His Worst Bug-aboos

The child who is raised in the shadow of skycrapers may be afraid of a bee. The country child, accustomed to bees and even cross bulls, may fear his first view of city traffic. Our fears are based largely upon the unusual, and our first experience with the unknown.

Let us stop a moment on this word "unknown." This is the basis of all obsessive fears born in the human being. Where knowledge or reason cease to give footing then imagination fills up the rest. We fear many things, but the vague dreads that crowd the heart are almost beyond analysis.

The child said to be "born coward" is merely one who gives himself over to these monsters of the imagination. He cannot help it. And knowing that he cannot help it, he will try to cover it up so as to fool everybody. He may do this, too, very successfully, but he will never fool himself.

He will get out of trying new tasks, by excuses of some sort. Actually he knows that he is afraid of something, perhaps failure, or of his secret premonition of danger.

"That's an old ball I don't want it," he may tell his gang, knowing full well that he dare not climb over the wall. Beyond that wall there may be a dog, a man or merely a lot of strange figures in stone. In his mind he may have pictured the secret garden from early babyhood as filled with monsters.

If one could take him into the garden, hand-in-hand, through a gate opened cordially to the visitor, he might see roses and lily pools, patches of sunlight and friendly trees. But the gate will have to be in the wall he dreads, not on the other side of the house.

He will learn to trust the unknown better from his own angle. He will learn to cross all the walls he dreads, or go through them, more confidently, by being shown that the truth is less horrible than he thinks. Even the dog he feared is, after all, a good old fellow; the man pats him on the head; the statuary is nothing but some stone in the center of a fountain.

But this should be remembered: the fixed fear of the unfixed thing has to be routed through the very agency that first created it. In this case, the wall.

Knowledge Dissipates Fear

Of course, experience gradually gained builds up a child's courage. The more things he does, the more he sees, the oftener he discovers that an elevator, for example, won't hurt him, or a cow run him down, the braver he will be.

I speak of physical fears. But emotional cowardice is closely associated with it.

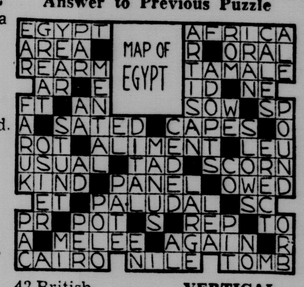

The slum child who has had to exert his every sense to keep alive, learns to discount the vague. He suffers less from imaginative dreads than his carefully-sheltered cousin.

On the Corner Where Business is Always Good

Do This If You're

NERVOUS

Don't take chances on products you know nothing about or rely on temporary relief when there's need of a good general system tonic like time-proven Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women from wholesome herbs and roots.

Let Pinkham's Compound help build up more physical resistance and thus aid in calming jangly nerves, lessen distress from female functional disorders and make life worth living.

For over 60 years one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Pinkham's—over 1,000,000 women have written in reporting glorious benefits—it MUST BE GOOD!

Officers Elected By Lone Star PTA

New officers were elected at a meeting of the Lone Star Parent Teachers association last Wednesday night.

They are Mrs. Jack Kehl, president; Mrs. Willie Anderson, vice president; Miss Susie Page, secretary; Mrs. James McFatrich, treasurer and Miss Elsie Garrett, reporter.

Mrs. Kehl appointed Mrs. Heineman, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Garrett to the social committee and Mrs. McFatrich for the programs.

The program after the business session consisted of songs by the school; a reading by Harold Kehl; Jew's harp music by Charles Garrett; a song by Vera Kathryn and Helen McFatrich, Nellie Bell and Dorothy Garrett and vocal duets by Russell McFatrich and Charles Garrett, concluding with a song by a group of seven boys.

Refreshments were served by the social committee. The next meeting will be on May 3, with Charles Garrett and George Anderson in charge of the program.

Joint Meeting By Homemakers

The ladies' homemakers' club of Edmondson and Yeager communities met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Gettys, "The Gettys Retreat," Thusday, April 6. Thirteen members were present with three visitors, Mrs. Howard Walton and Mrs. Ellis Green of Sedalia and Mrs. Homer G. Burns. The forenoon was spent in games and an exciting hunt for Easter eggs with favors being given for the ones finding the most and least amount of eggs. Miss Ruth Kroenke received the first favor and Mrs. Alma Mathies the other. At the noon hour, the blessing was sung by the club.

The tables were attractively decorated for Easter. Much merriment was enjoyed by all finding the egg with your name for place card at the table. The business meeting was called to order by the club president, Mrs. I. N. Barry. Club collect repeated by all. Treasurer's report was read and approved. Parliamentarian, Miss Mathies, gave a report of the garden project tour which was very interesting. A discussion of using wild flowers and shrubs to improve our yards and rock garden was enjoyed by all members. A report on Music week given by H. L. Noel, consisting of suggestions of J. W. Burch, Extension Club Director, which would prove to be a wonderful project. Many clubs are participating in the music program beginning the first Sunday in May 7 to 13. Mrs. Barry gave a report on gardening and freezer lockers, etc., all being very helpful suggestions. The club voted to send jellies and preserves to Mercy hospital by April 15. Members sang club song, "There's Music In the Air." Mrs. Mathies being leader for the afternoon, demonstrated fine laundry, which was very interesting. At the close of the meeting the "Missouri Waltz" was sung by all. Motion moved for adjournment.

Youth Reading of War Threat Ends Life

LOS ANGELES, April 13.—(AP)—Impressionable Buddy Merriel. 17 year old high school student, spent a restless night after reading stories of the possible involvement of the United States in a war.

Pale and dispirited, he arose yesterday and trudged to school. Within an hour he was back, telling his mother he was ill. Later she found his lifeless body hanging from his school bookstrap in the garage.

Capt. Fank Katzenberger, police detective, said the boy's mother told him her son "always had a horror of war and was afraid he would be called to fight."

Reports Car Broken Into

R. M. Reed, Dean apartments, reported to the police this morning his automobile parked on Lamine avenue, was broken into by thieves who stole about fifty lead pencils out of it.

Anderson PTA Elects Officers

The Anderson Parent-Teacher held its last meeting of the season last Friday. Mrs. E. W. Hoard presided as president and Mrs. C. L. Wadleigh, secretary. Announcement was made of the community graduation which will be April 17, at Bethlehem church. There will be a basket dinner and program the last day of school.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. James Phillips; vice president, Mrs. Karl Brosing; secretary, Mrs. Earl Holdner, reporter, Jean Hoard; song leader, Mrs. L. L. Milburn; pianist, Mrs. Maud Milburn.

The program was appropriate for "Dad's Night," in charge of C. Wadleigh, L. Wilken, E. Holdner, and consisted of: Piano solo, St. Paul's waltz, E. W. Hoard; reading, Neal Hudson; music and a magic show by Otto Shreck, Kenneth Beiler and Glen Smith.

Refreshments were served by Karl Brosing, Earl Burnett and Mr. Schard.

'Peace Devotion' Stressed By Hay

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—(AP)—Charles M. Hay, prominent St. Louis Democrat, considers of prime importance "this country's devotion to peace as a national policy."

"We hate war and do not propose to forment war or be drawn into any war not involving our rights and vital interests," he declared in a Jefferson day address last night.

The "vastly preponderant sentiment" of the American people favoring their form of democratic government has another thing "right" with America, he asserted.

"The nations of the old world seem helpless to avert war and a collapse of civilization. Is it possible that this greatest of nations is powerless to furnish the leadership for peace so desperately needed at this hour?"

Broadcast On The Rail Problem Tonight

"America's Town Meeting of the Air," will be devoted to the subject, "How Can We Solve The Railroad Problem?" Eight minute addresses on this subject will be made by Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Interstate Commerce Commissioner Joseph B. Eastman and J. J. Pelley, president, Association of American Railroads. The program as at present made up provides for Mr. Pelley to talk first, followed by Mr. Eastman and Senator Wheeler.

This program will be broadcast over Station WJZ, New York City, and a coast to coast hookup of blue network stations on Thursday, April 13th, from 8:30 to 9:30 Central Standard Time.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES
This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
